

Sept. 2, '97

Dear Mr. Wiggins! I am so glad to see your article on the other members

This news of the —
I never knew Dr. King's and should

On the subject "to me," this

This Sunday morning, this

"Major Bullitt" doesn't be a very

in imagination.

The death of the King is so I was so

Some had to be so beautiful!
I thought she was beautiful!

and thought she was beautiful!
But I was shocked at the interesting of my father

five years we have lost the end two women the world could look to for grace and dignity and now pressure. It makes me wonder Diamond. It is and what he is Diamond is I'll write soon!
Carla
Hello Mrs. Wiggins!

I think out of my cone of vision

2A □ TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1997 •

News briefs

Doctor who treated King breaks 29-year silence

ATLANTA — Breaking a 29-year silence, Rufus Brown, the first doctor to treat the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. minutes after he was shot in Memphis in 1968, said Monday that he's always wondered how the fatal bullet could have made so many odd turns. The official autopsy reports that the lone bullet entered King's body about an inch to the right of his mouth, fractured his jaw bone, exited his right chin and re-entered the base of the neck above the collarbone. The bullet then made a sharp left turn, continuing down and across King's neck, severing the spinal cord and finally lodging in the left lung. In Memphis, Tenn., attorneys for James Earl Ray said they will file a petition in Nashville today seeking his release pending a trial.

The pansy has m faces under a ho
The official nam bouquet is Viola

Box 181, Newton, MA 02168
PRINTED IN AMERICA, W6

PRINTED ON RECYCLED PAPER

©MCKXII, Julia Bell, Inc.
All rights reserved

