Dear Mr. Z.,

If the Stone propoganda had me speaking other than in the best terms of the A & E documentary <sup>4</sup>Reasonable Doubt it changed what I wrote the Post. Did you misread it?

Stone did nothing that can be called honest research. He based his <sup>script</sup> ~~book~~ on Garrison's and Marrs' books and they are both bad books. I'm sorry I do not have ~~the~~ time to give you the explanations this would require but I speak of personal knowledge.

Garrison was making it up as he went and Marrs, whose interest does not include fact about the assassination, never succeeded in getting the nutty theories straight.

I'm sorry to have to be so brief. I'm almost 80, not well and have other things I am trying to do while I can.

In general, all the books that confuse people like you that are theories presented as fact or solutions deceive and mislead you. And others.

The crime itself was never investigated officially. There therefore are no real lead to be follow.

I know of none of <sup>these</sup> ~~this~~ books that are not based on what somebody just made up.

I'm sorry I cannot take time for other correspondence.

I have written books to inform people. I'll enclose a list of them in the event you are interested in fact about the assassination rather than the proliferating mythologies.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg;

I am writing you in the hopes of you clarifying some questions I have about the assassination of JFK. Until about June of last year I knew very little about the event, until I rented JFK. The first thing that occurred to me was, 'did Oliver Stone ever do his homework!'

That started a long list of books to read on the subject, including your book 'Whitewash', which I enjoyed very much. So much I had to re-read it in order to understand some of the material. I also saw the A+E program 'The men who killed Kennedy' and enjoyed your segments. Oh, and I saw you as well on 'The Harrison Files' and particularly liked your appraisal of the FBI report of the Bronson film; 'and not to recognize a building!'

Anyhow, the main reason I'm writing is because in a recent book I read 'JFK, the book of the film', I was extremely puzzled to see an article by you saying that both the A+E program, & Stone's movie were 'very bad'. Could you please fill me in a bit more on your reasons?

Another question I have concerns your characterization of Jim Garrison's investigation as a fantasy of self-justification. I was under the (possibly mistaken) impression that he did an okay job, that most of his allegations were true, even though the jury acquitted Mr. Shaw. As a somewhat new reader of all the information about this topic, I'm thoroughly confused! On one hand, I read one story about Jim Garrison being a fine DA, the next minute I read he abused his power, etc. One minute he's in with the mafia, turning a blind eye & having them finance his Las Vegas gambling trips, the next minute he cracks down on them... Ugh! I very much trust you, so perhaps you could set the record straight for me.

I have tons of other things to do, but I shall stop here, as I don't want to overstay my welcome. Would it be possible for me to write to you in the future with other questions, or just to say hello from time to time? In closing, I'd like to say Thank you for taking time to read & consider my letter.

My local bookstore tells me your Whitewash series is about to be published, so I have my name in there to receive a copy of those books.
I'm eagerly awaiting your reply.

Yours Sincerely;
