

H/W

Copies of these indexes could not be located in the appropriate files at the Archives. This summer, I came across a composite index to the Ruby CD's in the office files of Burt Griffin in Entry 44. Copies of the indexes for the individual Ruby CD's had been cut up and attached to pieces of paper, so that all the "A" parts of the indexes were together, etc. (This is not a true composite index, since the component indexes were not cut apart except according to the first letter being indexed.)

I obtained copies of the 74 pages containing parts of the indexes to CD 4 and CD 302. (I had gotten the other indexes several years ago.) I cut-and-pasted to reconstruct the 49 pages of the original CD 4 index and the 9 pages of the CD 302 index (which I fit onto 8 pages).

The few handwritten comments were on the copies I got. The only changes I have made are for legibility; some very faint sections were corrected by hand.

(These 74 pages were received from the Archives on Dec. 6, 1973. References to Archives correspondence: their 11/21/68 (no index for CD 302 found), my Aug. 9, 1973; their Sep. 13; my Oct. 13; their Nov. 27.)
