

~~Appendix IV, beginning on p.475, "Biographical Information and Acknowledgments," deals with the members of the Commission and its staff. All the members had legal training.~~

Miscellaneous notes: Capt. Fritz identifies the Oswald shirt that was sent to the crime lab as the one he was wearing when arrested. Compare this with the testimony of the FBI expert Stombaugh. Unanswered questions raised by Oswald in his interrogations: The floor on which he usually worked on which he said he ate his lunch and whether or not he had in fact worked on the sixth floor on the day of the assassination; whether anyone ever tried to get him a lawyer from the Civil Liberties Union; whether he did change his clothes in his room that day, as he said; why no verbatim transcript of the interrogations were made; why he left $170 in Marina's bureau; why he asked for an FBI agent when arrested in New Orleans; why FBI Agent Hosty who seems to have suddenly disappeared from the scene engaged in what can fairly be called rough shadowing; the incident of the Secret Service man Oswald said he directed into the Book Depository, p.629; why he was not questioned about the inclusion of the American Civil Liberties Union on his post office box notation;

Others: why Buchanan and Joesten were not called as witnesses; the questions raised in the section dealing with the medical reports, especially discrepancies on time, and why the Commission made no effort to reconcile or eliminate them. Among the unlisted speculations that Marina had been brainwashed; who sold what evidence, especially the picture; with the inference that Oswald was of unsound mind, why no psychiatric witnesses were called except for one who I believe examined him as a child; was any effort made to find out if Oswald told the truth about his movements that day? All visible efforts have been to disprove them. Was Oswald seen to have or believed to have the skill to repack bullets? With the Commission's inference that Oswald was a Marxist and other inferences that he really didn't understand Marxism, was any effort made to find out whether, in fact, he did or was, other than his pretense? Was any effort made to learn whether the man looking like Oswald seen at the shooting range was a plant? Why there was no identification of the empty rifle bullet shells; why there was no identification of the location of the bullet that "missed" hit the curb; why the Commission accepted so many undated documents; why no picture of Brennan, such as from the Zapruder film or the many news films available that day; was there a picture of Oswald's room taken that day? If so, why isn't it used to clear up the discrepancies about it? Were any changes made in the area, such as in landscaping? This is not from the report but is visible in a comparison of pictures taken on the 22nd of November and since, reflecting the pruning of hedges and things like that; did any such thing happen to the trees? The same question with regard to signs, such as road signs.
