The office of District Attorney Jim Garrison, in a surprise move today, withdrew its motion to delay the trial of Clay L. Shaw. Shaw thus will go on trial as scheduled tomorrow on charges of conspiring to kill President John F. Kennedy.

government had sabotaged his case by refusing to release the autopsy records on Kennedy.

But today, Alcock went before Criminal District Judge Edward A. Haggerly Jr. and said:

"THE STATE will trust the good judgment, common sense and spirit of justice which the state feels prevails among the people of New Orleans and will withdraw its motion and announce at this time the state is ready to go to trial i tomorrow."

Attorneys for Shaw had already filed motions opposing a delay and pleading for a speedy trial. Alcock's action made them moot, and chief Shaw counsel P. Irvin Dymond announced the defense is ready for trial tomorrow.

With both sides on record as being ready, the long-delayed trial thus seems certain to proceed at last. Shaw was arrested March 1, 1967.

THE AUTOPSY records have been sealed in the National Archives until 1971 at the request of the Kennedy fam-By. A federal judge Friday gave Garrison's office two weeks in which to prove the records are material to the Shaw case before he will consider ordering their release.

Alcock refused to comment today on whitit Garrison's office will press its efforts to get the documents released.

He then launched into a verbal attack on Ramsey Clark and his panel of experts, noting that the panel members were viewing the autopsy documents at the same time Garrison's office was trying to obtain them.

Alcock branded Clark's action in releasing the report just as the case was about to go to trial and just as Clark was about to leave office as "unconscionable" and "not in

Then after a dramatic pause, Alcock made his statement that the state will trust the judgment of the potential jurors and is ready to go to trial.

Judge Haggerty appeared stunned, and as a murmur arose in the court, called for order. Reporters ran for telephones.

The judge looked over the defense's motion and complained that the proper documents were not affixed to it. Dymond said the matter is now moot.

"I KNOW IT'S moot, Mr. Dymond. You don't have to tell me," the judge said.

The defense motion argued that Garrison had been saying for two years he was ready to go to trial and said the delay asked for by Alcock could last until the year 2038 under his assertion that the case could not be tried until the government released all its data.

(Certain Federal Bureau of Investigation and Central Intelligence Agency reports on the Kennedy case have been declared classified for 75 years after 1963.)

ALCOCK REFUSED any further comment on any aspect of the case.
