

4/4/77: Ah, the glories and wonders of the House investigation! Imagine, turning up someone so "very significant" as this lady, the long-lost Babushka lady. Unfortunately, however, while the inscrutable House sleuths may have discovered sex, they did not discover this woman. Credit for her unearthing must go to J. Gary Shaw, another bastion of credibility, who presents her eminently compelling story in his equally compelling masterpiece, "Cover-Up." I have appended the relevant pages, omitting those not directly dealing with the mystery lady. What a remarkable coincidence that one person could have been introduced to Oswald "of the CIA" by Jack Ruby, seen Ferrie at Ruby's club, filmed the assassination and the grassy knoll only to have the film confiscated by Regis Kennedy, and then, honor of honors, be present at a meeting between Nixon and a gangster!! I recently spoke with her over the phone by dialing a number at random and learned that she was also at the Cuban embassy in Mexico City when Oswald was there and saw H.L. Hunt hand him a brief case filled with $100 bills. She also happened to be camping out in Democratic National Headquarters on that fateful night and overheard Hunt and McCord talk about how this would surely ruin Nixon.
