

Stewart Alsop, SEP 12/16/67:

"For the bullet that tore through John Kennedy's head seems to have torn something vital out of this country's soul, eroding both our idealism and our self-confidence, turning the country in angrily upon itself";

---