

"Woodstein" at Nat Pres Club - 6/5/74. Club departed from practice, which requires written questions from which the presiding officer selects to permit direct audience questioning.

This had the (deliberate?) effect of permitting Nixonians to ask questions. But cards had been distributed & questions had been written out and submitted.

Bob said it would be wrong for them to have an ^{opinion} ~~as a country~~ ^{unparliamentary}. ("The audience goes in all directions")
"We can't stand not to know everything."
"Assessment from committee - Bob -" It would be ~~wrong~~ wrong for us. "Some other questions are asked very easily from now on for me that out."

"I don't think any of us in the press have any right to withhold ~~any~~ information about witnesses in a conspiracy" - Woodward
