

It is the CIA's story that ~~at~~ the White House asked its help with the WG defendants over the Mexican money laundering and that, after investigation, it refused, saying there was no danger to CIA sources or contacts. This is present tense, from Symington's words as he read them on camera today. Warly I suspected that Ogarrio was in on this because of his and the (Hunt) past, which has nothing to do with the present. What should not be unrecognized is that the CIA, in its silence on learning of this criminal activity -plural, rather - became accessory to them. Ditto in giving the FBI duplicates of what it provided Hunt. Ditto in the FBI's doing nothing. It would be interesting to know if the effort with the CIA was Hunt's idea. HW 5/15/73
