Magazine Says Nixon Aide Admits Disruption Effort

and Bob Woodward

Washington Post Staff Writers

terday that Dwight L. Chapin, through the White House President Nixon's appoint-press office that the story "is ments secretary, has "admitted based on hearsay and is fundato FBI agents that he had mentally inaccurate." hired" California attorney Donald H. Segretti to disrupt previously reported that Kalm-tigators, reported Wednesday Democratic political cam-bach paid Segretti for his says: "Chapin had also told at least six telephone calls to the FBI that Segretti's payment was set by Nixon's personal attorney, California lawyer Herbert Kalmbach."

In addition, Time reported oped to support a charge by See WATERGATE, A10, Col. 1 that Justice Department sources say that "Kalmbach, too, admitted to FBI agents that the money he paid Segretti came from cash kept by the Committee for the Reelection of the President in the office of its finance chairman, Maurice H. Stans."

On Oct. 15, The Washington Post reported that Lawrence Young, 32, another California attorney, had said in a sworn statement that Segretti told him that "Dwight Chapin was The Washington Post that H. a person I reported to in Washington."

R. Haldeman, the White House

Time Magazine reported yes- | Chapin at that time said

Time and The Post have work, and The New York high-ranking presidential asso-In its latest edition, Time Times has said Segretti made the White House and one to Chapin's home since March.

Time's account also said "no hard evidence could be develchief of staff, was one of those with control over a fund that paid for spying and disruption."

The Post, citing accounts of grand jury testimony and inciates authorized to approve payments from the fund.

The Post article said Hugh W. Sloan Jr., the former treasurer of the Nixon committee, reportedly had named Haldeman in testimony before the grand jury investigating the Watergate bugging.

The next day Sloan's attorney denied "unequivocally" that Sloan had named Haldeman to the grand jury or any federal investigators.

Sloan if Haldeman was indeed to the fund. among those authorized to approve payments from the fund who have provided detailed ineven if he did not tell that to formation on the Watergate inthe grand jury. Sloan declined vestigation, confirmed once question of whether he named from the fund. Haldeman to the grand jury and investigators.

went back to their federal sources and were told that The termediary. Post story was incorrect in identifying Sloan's grand jury testimony as a source of in-Post reporters then asked formation on Haldeman's link However, these same sources, to answer, but said, "Our de-more that Haldeman was au-

WATERGATE, From A1 | nial is strictly limited" to the thorized to make payments | prehensible," and the story

The Post reporters then "insulated" himself, dealing the President." with the fund through an in-

> Meanwhile, Sen. the alleged Haldmen involvement vesterday in separate television interviews.

On NBC's Meet the Press. fund" by the news media. McGovern said: "Why haven't had some explanation about all of this matter from the President himself? Why has he declined to appoint an impartial investigator to look into this matter ad give the fund in the Nixon committee people all the facts before election day?"

case was "journalistically re-law.

connecting Haldeman with the One source went so far as to fund was "a contrived story say, "This is a Haledman oper-constructed out of two unation," and that Haldeman had truths attempting to tie this to Agnew said the Haldeman story was in question because Sloan's attorney had denied George McGovern and Vice that his client named Halde-President Agnew spoke about man before the grand jury and because of the reference to a special fund that has often been called a "secret

"In fact, I deny that there is any secret fund," Agnew said.

In August, the General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress, cited the existence of a $350,000 cash as a possible violation of the law because it was not prop-Agnew said on ABC's Issues erly reported to the governand Answers that The Post's ment as required by a new coverage of the Watergate campaign finance disclosure