

WHAT KIND OF MAN IS JOE TYDINGS?

You can't be sure by what he says today in Maryland. But you can find out something about him by what he and the people whose support he accepts have been saying right along. If you agree with their views on excusing crime, on undermining our national defense, on forgiving rioters and looters, and on accepting the use of marijuana and heroin by our young people, then Joe Tydings is your kind of man.

THE RADICALS WANT JOSEPH TYDINGS IN THE SENATE.

vote for extremist programs. They support Joe Tydings. Radical George McGovern's 1970 Campaign Fund has put thousands of dollars into Joseph Tydings' campaign. The National Committee For An Effective Congress has pumped in thousands more. Other way-out groups who favor Joseph Tydings include the Council For A Livable World, which is dedicated to ending our national defense. The Peace Chest Task Force, a "surrender" bunch, loves Tydings. So do the Americans for Democratic Action, another left-wing group whose leaders advocate socialism in America.

You can get an idea of what these groups, and Joseph Tydings, stand for by listening to them:

Easy on Crime and Condemns the Cops

"Empty-headed cries for 'law and order,'" said Senator McGovern, "carry an 'undertone of racism'."

Speech, National Press Club, New York Daily News, August, 1968

"... the radical right's philosophy, fears, and militant racism pervade the gun lobby."

Joe Tydings, Washingtonian, February, 1970

"... marijuana is no worse than alcohol or nicotine ..."

Baltimore Sun, citing a speech by Sargent Shriver, April 15, 1970

"I'm like Bobby Seale (Black Panther leader) in many ways," former Attorney General and Tydings backer Ramsey Clark said. "Maybe not in as many ways as I should be."

Washington Post, August 19, 1970

"Of all violence, police violence in excess of authority is the most dangerous ..."

Ramsey Clark, U.S. News & World Report, September 30, 1968

Tear Down America

"The myth of American omnipotence must be destroyed."

Joe Tydings, Baltimore Sun, June 16, 1969

"If there is any one dominant threat to our foreign policy it is the negative ideology of anti-communism."

Senator McGovern, from a speech in Hanover, N.H., June 27, 1970

Encourages Student Violence

"You have the God-given right to kick the government around — don't hesitate to do so."

Senator Edmund Muskie, Louisville Courier-Journal, September 12, 1968

"Student dissent has not been a disease of the body politic. It has instead been a welcome sign of health."

Senator Edmund Muskie, Boston Globe, June 8, 1970

"Instead of intimidating the public dissenter, we ought to welcome his independence and give his views a careful hearing."

George McGovern, Congressional Record, January 18, 1967

"Senator Kennedy charged today that the most destructive campus disorder has not been student violence but 'official violence' by police and National Guardsmen, which he compared with the killing of 'defenseless' Vietnamese civilians at My Lai."

New York Daily News, July 16, 1970, reporting on remarks by Senator Ted Kennedy

Plotting to Obstruct the President

The National Committee For An Effective Congress writes in its fundraising letter that Congress can obstruct the President with "devastating effect" by such methods as "refusing to pass revenue measures" for defense, appropriating "more funds than the President wants" and using its veto power "by denying confirmation of Presidential nominations" to high office.

Does this kind of talk reflect the beliefs of the people of Maryland? NO.

But this kind of talk causes the trouble in our society today. It encourages violence. These extremists profess to "understand" why the arsonists and bombers attack our universities and our public buildings. They excuse and forgive violence. They demand every privilege for criminals, and show little sympathy for the victims of crime. Their words and their votes contribute to making our homes and streets unsafe.

THE EXTREMISTS NEED JOE TYDINGS. MARYLAND DOES NOT.
