

Klein Leaving White House

New York

Herbert Klein, President Nixon's communications director for 4½ years, is resigning that post, the Daily News said last night.

The News said Klein told friends he is considering a position with Metromedia Broadcasting Corp., among other offers.

The newspaper said Klein's long-rumored departure was scheduled to be announced last Thursday, but was delayed due to the Watergate bugging scandal.

Reuters
