Dear Harold,

Enclosed are a couple of xeroxes from an old issue of the Daily World which might interest you. I note the original story comes from the August, 1970 issue of Scanlan's. It's possible I have that issue around here somewhere, but I don't have time to check now. I'm surprised, since Scanlan's broke the original story, that now with Watergated no one from that crowd has recollected it.

The continuation for the article is missing. I'll run into it one of these days and send it on to you.

Jim
