

HW:

Many thanks for the NYTimes Sunday mag piece on Hunt, of June 3. I get the same impression from it that you did: The CIA doing what it can to disassociate itself from him, but being very careful.

In clipping it you omitted one page or more. In what you sent (which is trimmed and eliminates page numbers) there is a break between the page ending "...clandestine operations." and the one beginning "the firm could not raise $2,000 for a down payment."

I'm sure the omitted material is no longer around, but if your own copy still has this part intact, we'd be very grateful if you'd make us a photocopy. Also omitted is the continuation of the box on Hunt'd literary prowess. Again. many thanks.
