

Hunt may not have disclosed all the reasons for faking official cables to make it seem that JFK was responsible for the Diem assassination. One explanation that should have led to further questioning and didn't - which is typical of the non-examination of Hunt - is to "prove" that " a Catholic U.S. Administration had, in fact, conspired in the assassination of a Catholic chief of state in another country."

"In fact" there is no such "fact" except in Hunt's twisted mind. Not only is there no such evidence and no rational reason to believe it but there is substantial reason to believe it is impossible, except, perhaps, on the Hunt/spook level, in which event it was not the "administration". Vellee?
