gage that belonged to the woman, Mrs. Dorothy Hunt, 52, of Potomac, Md., who was killed in the Friday crash.

Her husband, Howard Hunt, Jr., is one of seven who were indicted by a federal grand jury Sept. 15 in connection with the Watergate incident. He is a former consultant to Charles W. Colson, White House counsel.

The 1972-1973 edition of Who's Who in America lists Hunt's office address as The White House.

Police said they also found $585 in bills of smaller denominations that belong to Mrs. Hunt. They did not say where the smaller bills were found.

Mrs. Hunt apparently was coming to Chicago to visit a cousin, Harold C. Carlstead, of suburban Flossmoor.

Hunt, a former White House consultant and one-time CIA official, was indicted on charges of conspiring to break into Democratic National Committee Headquarters in the Watergate Hotel.

Hunt was not one of the five arrested inside the Democratic offices. The indictment charged that he had been present but had left before police arrived.

Mrs. Hunt, the former Dorothy L. Wetzel and Hunt were married Sept. 7, 1949.
