The Senate completed congressional action yesterday on a $4.45 billion appropriations bill that includes $2.8 million for the Watergate special prosecutor's office.

The vote was 80 to 2 in favor of the measure containing funds for the departments of State, Justice and Commerce, as well as the federal judiciary and related agencies. It is $56.9 million below President Nixon's budget.

The bill is the ninth of 13 regular appropriations bills to clear Congress for the year which started July 1.
