Nixon Relaxes At Camp David

Associated Press

President Nixon was said to be mingling work and relaxation yesterday at his Camp David mountain lodge.

The President and Mrs. Nixon flew directly to Camp David Saturday night on their return from a two-day trip to Phoenix and Spokane.

The White House said he received some cables yesterday from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who is in the Middle East, and worked on an announcement due this week on administration plans to stimulate the housing industry.
