

W Post
2-22-75

Biographies of Four

Haldeman

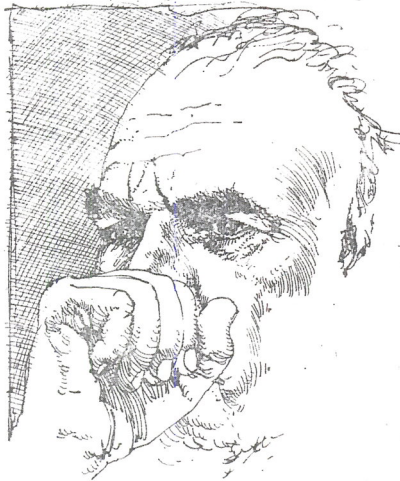

Harry Robbins (Bob) Haldeman. Born Oct. 27, 1926, Los Angeles. B.S. in business administration, UCLA, 1948. A former account executive with J. Walter Thompson ad agency, he was vice president and general manager of the Los Angeles office from 1960 to 1968. First joined Nixon in 1956 as advance man in Nixon's second vice presidential campaign. After 1968 election, became White House chief of staff, shielding President even from Cabinet members. Resigned April 30, 1973, with Nixon's praise, as Watergate cover-up was unraveling. Now lives in California with wife, Jo, and four children.

Drawings by David Suter for
The Washington Post

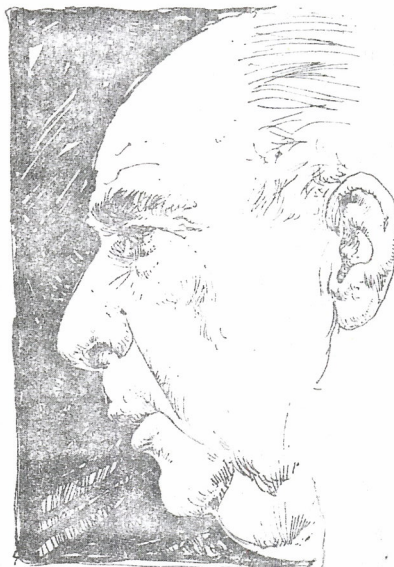

Ehrlichman

John D. Ehrlichman. Born March 20, 1925, Tacoma, Wash.; attended UCLA, law degree Stanford, 1951. A Seattle zoning lawyer, he first joined Nixon in the 1960 presidential campaign. Named counsel to the President in 1969, later promoted to special assistant for domestic affairs and director of the Domestic Council. Resigned April 30, 1973, after revelations in the Watergate case. Now suspended from practice of law in Washington and disbarred in California. Lives in Seattle with his wife, Jeanne, and five children.

Mitchell

John N. Mitchell. Born Sept. 5, 1913, in Detroit. Law degree Fordham, 1938; practiced law in New York 1938-1969. Was a partner in the law firm Nixon, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie, Alexander & Mitchell, where he became a close associate of Richard Nixon. In 1968 was named campaign manager for Nixon's presidential campaign, and in 1969 was named Attorney General. He resigned in January, 1972, to head Nixon's re-election campaign. Resigned that two weeks after Watergate burglary. He is separated from his wife, Martha, and retains custody of their daughter, Marty. Lives in New York City. Father of two children in earlier marriage.

Mardian

Robert C. Mardian. Born Oct. 23, 1923, Pasadena, Calif. Law degree, U. of So. Cal., 1949; practiced law in Pasadena 1949-1969. Western states coordinator in the 1968 Nixon presidential campaign, he was named general counsel of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in 1969. In 1970 he was named assistant attorney general for internal security. He resigned in April, 1972, to become special assistant to John Mitchell at the Committee for the Re-election of the President. Lives in California with his wife, Dorothy. They have three children. Now disbarred in California.