Pro-West Angolan Units Leave Their Capital as Foe Advances

NYTimes JAN 28 1976

LUSAKA, Zambia, Jan. 27 were being evacuated and that (UPI) — Angola's hard-pressed no other reporters would be pro-Western forces have aban-permitted to enter the battle zone. of Huambo in the center the country, reports from capital of the National Union tive offices were reportedly airport, and National Union moved 100 miles eastward to Silva Porto, the military headquarters of the National Union a National Front splinter faction.

Angola.

Luanua, the capital of the Soviet-supported Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, said the tank column was about 50 miles from Huambo. But reporters with the National Union troops said the Popular Movement was still at least 100 miles north of Huambo. The shift to Silva Porto was being described as a precautionary measure, and National Union sources said their troops were making a stand north of Alto Hama.

But National Union officials here said that all journalists in the southern part of Angola.

Sunday during an attack on Novo Redondo on the Atlantic coast.]

According to Western diplomatic today for a ceasefire in Angola. He warned the West that the Soviet Union intended taktory of a plan for wowrld domination of a plan for wowrld domination of a plan for wowrld domination of a plan for wowrld should realize that what was happening in Angola was not just another peared timed to crush the allied southern defenses before any new aid could arrive from African or Western nations.

But National Union officials new aid could arrive from Afri-here said that all journalists in the southern part of Angola Some 1,200 South African

With a tank-led column of Soviet-supported troops continuing to move southward toward the town, the administrative offices were reportedly airport and National Union the National Union and its ally, the National Front for the Liberation of Angola. Reporters arriving here today from Angola said that there was shooting at the Huambo

Angola.

This development apparently brings to a formal end the designation of Huambo as a capital. Actually, reports from the town said last week, it has north of Alto Hama. 9 [Agence scarcely existed as a capital. Silva Pôrto was described as the real center of pro-Western forces.

Dispatches yesterday from Luanda, the capital of the Soviet T-54 tanks and MIG-21 fighters, reportedly broke through National Union described the National Union withdrew to the area of Angola's border with South-West Africa at the MIG:s were used for the first lime in the Angolan fighting last Sunday during an attack on Novo Redondo on the Atlanviet-supported Popular Move-Luanda-based troops, lacked

The New York Times/Jan. 28, 1976 Pro-Western forces Angola moved capital from Huambo eastward to Silva Pôrto.

"It is the beginning of a new offensive aimed at gaining control over Africa and forms part of Russia's global strategy of eventual world domination,"