PRETORIA, South Africa, Sept. 17— Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will take time out from his talks with Prime Minister John Vorster tomorrow to meet with a cross section of South African blacks, whites, people of mixed ancestry and Indians at the American Embassy here.

According to Mr. Kissinger's party, there will be two separate meetings. The first, with black leaders, will take place from 3 to 4:30; the second, with prominent South Africans, will include white opposition leaders as well as blacks and "coloreds," as those of mixed ancestry are called by the Government here.

The list of those who will attend, as made available by the Kissinger party, include:

African Leaders

W. J. Bergins, head of the Federal Party, a group of persons of mixed ancestry viewed as sympathetic to the Vorster Government.
Chief A.N.M. Gatsha Buthelezi, head of the Zulus, the largest of the ethnic tribes; he opposes the Government's policy of independent states for these groups.
Dr. William M. Kgware, the rector-designate of the University of the North, a black university; he is the first black to be named to that job.
Lionel Samuel (Sonny) Leon, chairman of the Colored Representative Council, and head of the opposition Labor Party.
Tollica J. Makhaya, mayor of the Soweto, the township outside Johannesburg.
Chief Lucas M. Mangope, head of the Bophuthatswana, a tribe favorable to the Government's land policy.
Leonard Mosala, an opposition member of the Soweto council.
Mrs. Lucy Mvubelo, general secretary of the National Union of Clothing Workers, a leading black union.
Prof. Hudson W. E. Ntsanwisi, head of the Gazankulu homeland and chairman of the Homeland Leaders Council.
Jayaram N. Reddy, executive chairman of the South African Indian Council, representing the country's 800,000 Indians.

Lennox L. Sebe, chief minister of the Ciskei tribe.

Prominent South Africans

Leonard George Abrahamse, white, joint deputy chairman of Nedsual, a financial institution.
Colin Eglin, leader of the Progressive-Reform Party and a leading white opponent of the Vorster Government.
Sir De Villiers Graaff, leader of the United Party, an opposition party.
