WASHINGTON, June 3 (UPI) — George Bush, Director of Central Intelligence, has informed the Senate leadership that his agency intends to resume destroying its records, including those used by Senate intelligence and Presidential commission investigators.

Mr. Bush informed the Senate Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield, of Montana, and the Senate Republican leader, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, of the agency's intention in a letter written yesterday and released by Mr. Scott's office today.

Mr. Bush said the agency, at the request of Senators Mansfield and Scott, had not destroyed and records, including routine ones, since Jan. 27, 1975, the date the old Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, headed by Senator Frank Church, the Idaho Democrat, was formed.

"The purpose of this letter is to advise you that it is our intention to proceed with destruction of records, now that the Select Committee has completed its investigation and issued its final report," Mr. Bush said. "We have so advised Senator Church.

"Along with the backlog of routine administrative records, the agency will destroy records which were collected and maintained by the agency and which were subject to investigation by the Rockefeller Commission and the Select Committee."

A Presidential commission headed by vice president Rockefeller also investigated abuses of power by the Central Intelligence Agency last year.

Mr. Bush said the agency had to destroy much of the material to comply with executive orders and the 1974 Privacy Act.

"Of course," he said, "all records destruction will be fully consistent with other applicable laws, Presidential directives, and the requirements of pending litigation and Justice Department investigations."

He said he had asked Senators Scott and Mansfield to confirm that they consider the destruction project "necessary and appropriate."
