Says he has known Andrews for 15 years since Andrews was a law student who would study in his bar, that he has seen Andrews many times since and that Andrews knows him, knows his voice and that he is not Bertrand.

Immediately after Davis testified to the grand jury, a subpoena instantar was issued for Andrews. Andrews before court session: "I hope to bust something loose some place. Fat man's got to go to the whip." Later wept briefly when alone. Indicated no matter the outcome of the trial, he's still in a stew: job gone, law practice dwindling. "I've had good times. It's been fun, but not lately." In arguing his recusal motion for appointment of an ad hoc District Attorney, Andrews said the charge against him was the result of a "carefully prepared plan to force men to identify Clay Shaw as Clay Bertrand or keep quiet." New Orleans States-Item 8/11/67

State continued presenting its case, reaping mostly from Andrews' testimony to the grand jury on June 28, over defense attorney's objections. He then moved for mistrial. Denied Assistant District Attorney Burnes said Andrews lied several times, chiefly when he told grand jury Shaw was not Bertrand. Also he lied then he said Shaw on TV seemed taller than Bertrand.

"If a man can state one person is taller than another, he can also state he is not the same person," Burnes said.

Testimony read showed Andrews had said "If this case is based on the fact that Clay L. Shaw is Clay Bertrand, it's a joke."

"I may have said a thousand times one thing, but the one time I say Clay Shaw is not Clay Bertrand clears me of all the rest. It doesn't make any difference to me if I am convicted. Clay Shaw is not Clay Bertrand. Indict me if you want to."

Also in testimony, reference to a meeting Andrews had at Brennan's restaurant game before the June 28 grand jury meeting. "I kept my deal with the Giant. I said I can't say he is and I can't say he ain't. And I got indicted for it."

Arcacha Smith, Sergio Vincente, Age 44.

Cuban exile leader in New Orleans, now Dallas resident. Met Bill Gervich and another Garrison investigator in Dallas police station; not questioned by them when he asked this be done in presence of Dallas detectives. AP

B31 655acs, 4/4/67.

Said he was legally represented by Assistant District Attorney Bill Alexander of Dallas. Alexander said he had only advised Arcacha of his rights when latter told him Garrison "hounding him" to go to New Orleans for questioning.

Washington Post said Arcacha had been removed as New Orleans head of Cuban Revolutionary Front, that Front "presumably had the unofficial sanction" of CIA.

Post said on 8/30/61, New Orleans, two young men stopped by police in car containing Ferrie property; men said they were waiting for him; led police to Arcacha's house; Mrs. Arcacha said Ferrie had been there earlier. AP 52dn 10377 pcs 2/26/67 Feb. 25 AP A73 611aes, 2/28/67

After the Bay of Pigs, Arcacha and other Cubans participated in forming a "Crusade to Free Cuba" organization, designed to raise funds for the Cuban effort in the New Orleans area. They were backed ... by a number of prominent private citizens... [the Crusade] began at the end of November 1961 but lasted less than a year before being disbanded because of factional and financial difficulties.

Arcacha then is said to have left New Orleans for Miami. He is now living in Dallas. He is among the group that met in Banister's office before and after the Bay of Pigs. ... Washington Star (via Stan Primmer) 2/26/67

Washington Post in study filed in New Orleans, said police stopped two young men in a car on 8/30/61 (in New Orleans apparently) and found in the auto a pistol and a makeup kit with a wig. Post said both belonged to Ferrie. Youths took police to Arcacha's home so he could vouch for them. Post said Arcacha's wife told police Ferrie had been at the house short time earlier, youths released.

Arcacha, who now lives in Dallas, was picked up by Garrison agents over the weekend. New Orleans TV station, WWL, said Arcacha insisted that Dallas detectives sit in on interrogation, whereupon agents delayed questioning. AP A61 535aes 2/27/67

Arcacha said in Dallas he knew nothing about the assassination or of Garrison's probe. Identified as anti-Castro Cuban diplomat, who left Cuba 26 days after Castro came to power and was delegate from the Cuban Revolutionary Movement in New Orleans helping to coordinate plans for the Bay of Pigs invasion until 1962.

Now works for export department of a Dallas air conditioning manufacturing company. Refused to say whether he knew Ferrie. AP B34nu 622pcs 2/27/67

Described by Garrison as "Ferrie's link with the Cubans." Says two members of Arcacha's former Cuban Democratic Revolutionary Front are now Garrison witnesses.

Carlos Quiroga, who was Arcacha's aide, says Ricardo Davis acted as liaison man between the 14-man Cuban assassination team training in St. Tammany Parish in the summer of 1963 and the unidentified Americans who were financing the training. Garrison says Quiroga told him a famous Cuban underground member known only as Peneque was in charge of the training, possibly aided by Ferrie.

Nashville Tennessean, Jim Squires, 6/22/67

Extradition proceedings dropped in Dallas. Governor John Connally refused to sign the executive warrant of extradition within the specific 90 days. He had said earlier the only way Garrison would get Arcacha back would be to guarantee immunity from criminal and civil action. Arcacha's attorney Frank P. Hernandez says Arcacha now unemployed, and "I intend to see" that this and other wrongs must be righted. Another attorney, Emmet Colvin, said Arcacha has lost his job with refrigeration firm. New Orleans States-Item AP 7/5/67

Harold Weisberg at San Francisco press conference to plug latest book, "Oswald in New Orleans," says the feds knew early-on of CIA involvement in assassination and withheld it from Warren Commission and the country.
