

Oswald Attorney Called

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison subpoenaed an attorney in his Kennedy assassination probe today shortly after the U.S. attorney general-designate said in Washington that the FBI three years ago had cleared Clay L. Shaw of any part in the crime. Shaw was the first man arrested in the Garrison probe.

Subpoenaed today was Dean Andrews Jr., an attorney who represented Lee Harvey Oswald after Oswald had a street brawl in New Orleans in 1963. Oswald is the man the Warren Commission named as President John F. Kennedy's assassin.

Asked for comment on Garrison's arrest of Shaw Wednesday night, Atty. Gen-designate Ramsey Clark said, "on the evidence that the FBI has, there was no connection found" between Shaw and the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination.

Garrison was not immediately available for comment on Clark's statement.

Shaw's lawyer promised to prove his client's innocence, and said Shaw would make a statement later today. He said offers of aid for Shaw were pouring in from around the world.

Shaw, wealthy retired director of New Orleans' International Trade Mart, was booked on a charge of "conspiracy to commit murder." Garrison said the arrest was only the first of several that would result from his five-month-old probe of the assassination.

Shaw's attorney, Edward F. Wegmann, told a newsman he was "very pleased to hear what the attorney general has to say. We agree with him wholeheartedly. In due course, Mr. Shaw's innocence will be reaffirmed."

Shaw dropped from sight when released on $10,000 bond Wednesday night.

Clark, interviewed in a Washington corridor, said Shaw "was included in an investigation in November and December of 1963. We have the evidence and we can assume what their conclusions are."
