

Fifth Subpoena Is Issued In JFK Death Probe

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Five men have pushed through the thick mahogany doors into Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's suite of offices, answering subpoenas connected with the probe of President John F. Kennedy's assassination. Four have walked out free men.

Only one, Clay Shaw, was booked on a charge of conspiring to "commit the crime of murder of John F. Kennedy." Shaw is free under $10,000 bond pending preliminary hearing March 14.

Interest Continues

Worldwide interest has not slackened since Garrison vowed there would be arrests and convictions as a result of his investigation into a conspiracy in New Orleans which he says culminated in the assassination Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas, Tex.

This is so mainly because a subpoena has been issued every week day since last Wednesday when Shaw, retired managing director of the International Trade Mart, was arrested.

The investigation continued yesterday when Garrison subpoenaed J. B. Dauenhauer, a onetime assistant to Shaw at the old trade mart.

Dauenhauer arrived at Garrison's office with his lawyer, Irving Dymond, who said on leaving an hour and a half later that his client "cooperated to the utmost."

"In my opinion," said Dymond, "Mr. Dauenhauer has nothing to do with any conspiracy if one existed."

Dymond said Garrison's staff seemed to have the same opinion.

Money Pours In

Meanwhile, one of the businessmen handling a private fund which allows Garrison to conduct his probe in secrecy says mail and money is pouring into his office.

"I can't say how much it amounts to because I just got back in town," said Joseph M. Rault Jr., an oilman, "but we just can't get through all the mail."

Rault, who with two other businessmen formed a fund called "Truth and Consequences, Inc." said he had not yet received one critical letter.

Rault said the letters numbered in the hundreds. He added the money was unsolicited.
