Warren Report Critics Getting Lumps

Best news in a long time is the bad news the critics of the Warren Commission report are getting . . . Lee Harvey Oswald's defender, Mark Lane, for example. His film challenging the Warren Report is suffering at the box office, according to Variety, the reliable bible of showbiz . . . Page one the other issue noted that the movie's "1st run booking at Manhattan's Carnegie Hall Cinema had three limpid weeks."

Both the Associated Press and CBS released reports demolishing the half-truths, innuendoes and lies of some people making a career of defending "poor, misunderstood Oswald."

New Orleans D.A. Garrison is finding it tougher and tougher to keep the "conspiracy" theory from popping at every seam . . . Witness after witness alleged he was pressured to "lie" in support of Garrison's weird case . . . The latest debunker is his chief prober. He withdrew from the case . . . He described Garrison as "paranoid" . . . If the accused star "conspirator" is cleared, the legalites believe his defamation suit and "false arrest" claim may make Louisiana's treasury a pauper.

LAWMEN TELL us "there isn't a single clue" to the elusive kidnaper who got a $250,000 ransom release a Coaster's little son . . . It was new $100 bills . . . The father is not . . . He had to borrow that sum

To the people who "fishy" about the father render money.
