A SEPTEMBER TRIAL FOR SHAW PRESSED

Johnson News Parley Will Be on TV Today

Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. ordered the prosecution and defense Wednesday to finish special pleadings as soon as possible.

"These motions have dragged on four months," Judge Haggerty said after ordering District Attorney Jim Garrison to name the West Coast city in which Mr. Garrison says Mr. Shaw furthered an assassination conspiracy.

President Johnson has scheduled a news conference for 3 P.M. today and the three major television networks will present live coverage.

The radio networks of the National Broadcasting Company, the American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System will also cover the conference live. WABC-Radio, the local A.B.C. outlet, has deferred a decision on whether it will carry the broadcast.

The judge said he should be able to settle all remaining questions by Sept. 13 and the trial could be set for the latter part of September, "barring some unforeseen development."
