DIAMONDS FROZEN INTO ICE CUBES—FREE!

If you're over 18 years of age you are invited to select an ice cube at Woolco store, Gretna, tomorrow, Friday or Saturday—and possibly find a real diamond inside it.

Don Herrera, store manager, is busily freezing $1000 worth of unmounted diamonds in various sizes, shapes and cuts, from Woolco's collection of gems.

Hundreds of ice cubes at a time will be displayed in a deep freeze in front of the Red Grille, where you pick out one by pointing. The cube of your choice will be sealed into a plastic leak-proof bag and given to you. You may put it in your purse to take home or if you're impatient, sit down in the Red Grille and watch the cube melt, but please don't use it as a tea bag, Herrera asks.

GARRISON CASE IN METAIRIE TALK

Kent Courtney will speak on "The Garrison Case and the Communist Conspiracy" at a meeting of the Metairie Rotary club, Thursday noon in Imperial House Restaurant, 3400 North Causeway Blvd.

Courtney, national chairman of the Conservative Society of America and nationally known as a publisher of anti-Communist books and pamphlets, says his investigation into certain aspects of the Garrison case leads him to the conclusion that if District Attorney Garrison fails to prove his conspiracy theory, it will serve the cause of the international Communist conspiracy.

BERNARD & GRUNNING GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

Louis J. Bernard, founder of the Bernard & Grunning jewelry firm, Baronne, announces going out of business.

International manufacture after it met at the congress

Asked about his most interesting experience during four decades of jewelry work, Bernard said it was probably the time his staff spent four months gold-plating the main altar in Jesuit church, the largest gold-plated altar in the United States.
