

Da Nang's Port Facility
To Be Reopened Today

HANOI, North Vietnam April 23 (Agence France-Presse)—The port of Da Nang will open for business tomorrow, the Provisional Revolutionary Government's press agency announced today, quoting a statement by the Economy and Finance Ministry.

The government recently permitted the landing of a United Nations cargo of New Zealand powdered milk at Da Nang, which can take either two 10,000-tonners plus six smaller ships at a time, or four big vessels.
