SFExaminer 25 Nov 69 Army's Report Failed To Mention Civilians

leged massacre at Song My reported 128 "enemy" killed there in an American attack supported by artillery and helicopters, it was learned today.

The newsletter of the U.S. Americal Division made no mention of civilian casualties and reported the attack as a mission against a Viet Cong stronghold.

"Jungle warriors (the 11th Light Infantry Brigade) together with artillery and helicopter support hit the village of My Lai early yesterday (March 16, 1968) morning," the newsletter said.

"Contacts throughout the morning and early afternoon resulted in 128 enemy killed, 13 suspects detained and three weapons captured."

My Lai is a hamlet in Song My village.

The newsletter made no reference to Lt. William Calley, who has been charged with murdering 109 civilians in the village.

Another edition of the mimeographed newsletter said the attack on Song My was part of a larger mission known as Operation Muscatine.

It said six Viet Cong were

QUANT NGAI (South Viet-killed in the area March 17 nam) - (UPI) - An official as troops from Task Force U.S. Army publication dis-Barker pushed through rice tributed the day after the al- fields around Quang Ngai City, eight miles from Song My.