Jackie's Tastes: Exquisite but Costly

By Jack Anderson and Les Whitten

History will not likely forget Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, the tragic First Lady of the 1960s and jet set queen of the 1970s, who is certainly one of the world's most fascinating women.

To learn more about the woman behind the beauty and grace, we have broken through the aura of aloofness and remoteness she has created about herself. We have spoken to intimates who previously had been silent. We have had access to some of her personal papers.

Jacqueline Onassis' favorite insignia is the dollar sign. She exquisite but expensive has Both of her late husbands, John F. Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis, were millionaires who could afford to indulge the lovely Jackie. But according to intimates, both complained bitterly about her extravagance.

Her prodigal spending, say our sources, caused more than one quarrel over money during her marriage to Kennedy. Mary Gallagher, who kept the First Family's personal accounts, reports that Jackie spent $105,446.14 during her first year in the White House.

Of this, more than $40,000 went for clothes. There was one

soirees were picked up by the win had installed two handsome government. Yet the President's plaints, apparently, made little refused to pay the last bill, our impression on her. For the folyear, she lowing ran up $121,461.61 in expenses. She was spending, in other words, more than the President's then $100,-000 salary.

When Jackie married Aristotle Onassis, she drew a $30,000 monthly allowance and was permitted to charge purchases at fashionable stores. She quickly began running up, shopping bills that were startling even by the shipping tycoon's expansive standards.

Ari complained to intimates that he got one $5,000 bill for messenger service and another $5,000 bill for the care and feeding of Jackie's pets. Speaking for Jackie, aide Nancy Tucker-man called these bills "unreal-istic." But she was unwilling to discuss Jackie's finances with but useless TV sets in the house, the old tycoon was so furious he ment. sources say. Apparently, the is-land not only has no TV recep-tion but the sets were shipped to Greece on a rival airline. Onassis owned Olympic Airways.

Jackie also hired the celebrated decorator, Billy Bald-win, to rearrange the furnishings aboard the yacht Christina and their house on the Greek island of Skorpios.

Baldwin angrily denied the necdote. "There's absolutely anecdote. not a word of truth in it, included us. But we have had access to On at least one occasion, the records, which show that Jackie charged one of her shopping sprees to her host. The Baldwin billed Onassis for $20,609.89 Onassises were invited to framewas made on Nov. 28, 1968, folion 1972 as guests of Iran's top oilman, Reza Fallah, and his according to our sources, re-fused to pay the $6,245.85 bal-

The biggest bill Jackie tried to pawn off on her husband was for $400,000 in legal expenses over a lawsuit involving freelance photographer Ronald Galella. She wrote warm notes to her attorney, former Judge Simon Rifkind, during the litigation. A friend, to whom she showed the letters, recalls such lines as this one: "I am so glad that ships limit and doed." that chivalry is not dead."

But when Rifkind submitted

But Onassis, according to his his bill, it went unpaid. Onassis bill alone for $4,000 from Giv-enchy of Paris. She spent the who didn't like someone chang-charges. Associates say he put rest on food, liquor, jewelry, art, ling things around. He wouldn't up $50,000 and told Jackie to pay beauty treatments and the like. Incidentally, she paid only for yacht but agreed to let him reprivate entertaining out of her decorate the Skorpios house.

account. All the bills for official When Ari discovered that Balited the money in her account, and an hour later, she wrote out a check. Rifkind declined com-

Eventually, Onassis got fed up with Jackie's spending and transferred her account to his Monte Carlo office where he could keep a closer watch on it. Our sources say he reduced her allowance to $20,000 a month and cracked down on her

Not only did the Onassis entouragé run up a huge hotel bill, including several long distance calls, but Jackie loaded up on expensive gifts. They left all the bills for Fallah to pay. He even paid for a fancy Persian rug, which a belly dancer gave to Ari during her night club act. Jackie also hinted that she would like to take home some golden caviar, which was delivered in great quantity to her hotel.

Commenting on this report, Nancy Tuckerman told us that Jackie just bought a jacket for her son John, nothing more.

c1975, United Feature Syndicate