E NEW YORK TIMES, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1971

Mitchell Tells of Action Against 170

Special to The New York Times
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20
Attorney General John N.
Mitchell disclosed today that more than 170 state and local public officeholders or former officials had been indicted or convicted in the last 32 months in the Department of Justice's efforts against organized crime of prosecution as a regult of F.B.I. investigations."

Mr. Mitchell attributed this success in part of the increased from 23 in fiscal 1968 to a total of 123 in the last three fiscal years.

"In New York City, where from the organized crime syndicates" have increased from 23 in fiscal 1968 to a total of 123 in the last three fiscal years.

"In New York City, where from the organized crime of the last three fiscal years.

"In New York City, where from the five bosse or acting bosses have either organized crime syndicates."

In New York Times processing and the last three fiscal years.

"In New York Times processing and the last three fiscal years."

"In New York City, where from 23 in fiscal 1968 to a total of 123 in the last three fiscal years.

"In New York City, where from the five bosse or acting bosses have either organized crime syndicates."

In New York City, where from the five bosse or acting bosses have either organized crime syndicates.

in the Department of Justice's efforts against organized crime "and its handmaiden, official corruption."

The figure of 170 includes only those offenses connected with organized crime, or those charges that appeared to link the defendants with organized crime, Mr. Mitchell said in a luncheon address here to Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Mr. Mitchell said the indicate the said that, "in less than three years, approximately 350 court-authorized wiretaps resulted in more than 1,500 arrests" and "more than 170 convictions."

But he added that, because of the "long time before many courts can hear these cases, we have no true correlation as yet between wiretaps and convictions."

Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Mr. Mitchell said the individuals "range from positions of judgeships to state elective officials, from mayors to councilmen, from law enforcement officers to purchasing agents," and represent "21 cities, 12 counties and 5 states."

Wiretapping Cited

Describing the efforts of the Nixon Adminstration agains organized crime, the Attorney General said "more than 1,400 organized crime and gambling figures have been convicted in the past three years and more than 2,100 are in various stages"

Wet between wiretaps and convictions."

100 Key Witnesses

The Attorney General said that largely through the provisions in the Organized Crime Control Act, the Federal Government assisted "approximately 100 key witnesses whose testimony has been vital in bringing organized criminals to justice."

"We have relocated many of them in new jobs under assumed names and not one of these has been lost," Mr. Mitchell said.

Mr. Mitchell said convictions of "high echelon figures in or-

Officeholders in Crime Drive

been indicted or convicted," the

"In New England, the top Attorney General said.

"In Chicago, nine out of the 13 top gangland leaders have been brought under the processes of justice, and for month the top spot has gone begging." and the continued.

"In New England, the top eadership is partically decimated. Of the nine leaders who have been identified, two are on death row and three—including the boss—are in prison," he said.