Panel Sees Increased Risk Of Plots for Assassination

By JON NORDHEIMER

Special to The New York Times

political assassination conspira- political-interest groups. cies and recommended some dential campaign practices.

Excerpts from the commission report are on Page 45

the President and the candidates in a Presidential campaign Service extend its coverage to lence, was established come targets of violence.

didates in the final weeks be-sixth sent to the White House. rore a Presidential election to establish a new pattern of safe sinations in the United States fore a Presidential election to national campaigning.

both white and black extrem-ing in this country." ists.

by professional staff members of assassination patterns here and abroad, the commission

"Present trends warn of an

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2-The not only for Presidents, but for national violence commission other office holders at every warned today that the nation level of Government, as well might be entering a time of as leaders of civil rights and

"We do not predict that such fundamental changes in Presi- an outbreak will occur, but we feel compelled to note that The commission urged that some of the conditions for such an outbreak are present or may be developing. These conditions add urgency to the need to deprotection effective velop against assassination."

The panel, formally named forgo traditional outdoor politi- the National Commission on the cal rallies and that the Secret Causes and Prevention of Viopublic figures who might be- president Johnson in June, 1968, after the assassinations The commission asked, too, of Senator Robert F. Kennedy that Congress arrange free tel- and the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther evision time for the major can- King Jr. Today's report was the were nonconspiratorial, It also expressed concern that Negroes holding public office might increasingly become spiratorial assassination in other targets for assassination by countries appear to be develop-

It cited these reasons for its In a report based on a study concern about an increase in assassination plots:

The threat of urban guerrilla warfare, such as an attack on Cleveland policemen escalating risk of assassination, Continued on Page 45, Column 1

NYT 11/3/69

commission said.

No 'Perfect' System

However, the report con-ceded that there was no "per-fect" way to guard a President. But to minimize the risk, it said, the President and other political figures who face the threat of violence can limit their public appearances to carefully controlled indoor rallies where electronic armsdetection equipment on he detection equipment can be used to screen the spectators.

And noting that television was not only an effective campaign tool but an eminently safe one, the report said:

"This commission recommends that the the commission recommends that the television recommends the television recommends that the television recommends the television recommend safe one, the report said:

"This commission recommends that the Congress enact a law that would grant free television time to Presidential candidates during the final weeks preceding the national election. The amount of television time allocated to the candidates should be adequate to establish a new pattern in Presidential campaigning and to reduce significantly the pressure toward personal appearances in all parts of the country."

The commission left the

commission left

questions inherent in such a proposal — how broadcasting proposal — how broadcasting time should be allocated to minor party candidates and other complications such as scheduling to Congress and scheduling—to -to Congress

It said the idea, even without the benefit of limiting the candidates' exposure to danger, would be in the public interest since the broadcasts might become a forum for serious discussion of complex issues, replacing the hoopla of mass rallies and reaching far more voters.

It also recommended that city and state governments review the measure of protection given Mayors and Governors and enlist the aid of the Secret Service and the Federal Bureau of Investigation if Bureau Investigation of warranted.

The precautions we

PANEL SEES RISK OF ASSASSIN PLOTS

Continued From Page 1, Col. 3

by black extremists in 1968.

¶Constant vilification American institutions

The promise in the next few years of rapid social and economic change.

Part of the blame for the assassinations the nation has experienced in this decade, the report asserted, must be placed on the "violent rhetoric of our politics"... our constant flirtation with actual violence," and the impact of these forces upon the "twisted mind" of the lone reserving. of the lone assassin.

The commission reported that the Secret Service had developed intelligence systems and equipment since the slaying of President Kennedy six years ago that greatly increase its consists of the state of its capacity to protect a Presi-

"The Secret Service is confident that, had its new intelligence system been in effect in 1963, the activities of Lee Harvey Oswald would have been brought to [its] attention before the fatal attack," the urging are worthwhile whether or not this nation faces a new outbreak of political assassinations," the report said.

At a news conference held to release the commission's statement on assassination, the chairman, Milton S. Eisenhower, was asked why other heads of state could expose themselves to the public while the American President must be constantly shielded. Mr. Eisenhower responded:

"We're the only nation in the world that has the gun. population we have."

The commission, in an earlier report, had called for drastic reductions in the number of hand guns currently available in this country.

The commission will make its final report to the President to release the commission's its final report to the President by Dec. 10.