

21 January 1971

Dear Hal:

Enclosed are three notes from Weisberg, all of which have something you should know about and/or do something about. I trust they're reasonably self-explanatory.

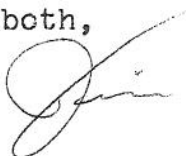

An exchange with Bernabei is to be returned to Weisberg.

Also a clipping from the States-Item of 11Jan71 about the death of Jules Delaune. He died on Jan. 10, a Sunday, and this is all the States-Item has carried on him. He's the brother of the widow of Dr. Nicholas Chetta, the New Orleans coroner who died mysteriously. Another brother, Dr. Henry DeLaune, was murdered mysteriously 26Jan69, five days after jury selection began in the first Shaw trial. The second Shaw trial was due to begin 18Jan71, but after a futile attempt to appeal it to the Louisiana Supreme Court Shaw's attorneys took it to federal court and got a TRO against proceeding, with a hearing set for this coming Monday, Jan. 25.

Here's hoping about the job, and let us know how things are going with you.

I have~~d~~ about a month of letters from Weisberg to try to answer -- nothing of any importance, just his usual, so please excuse the haste.

Best from us both,

idw
