

"[Theodore]Charach will make special journeys to New York and Washington, under the auspices of the National Committee to Investigate Assassination, coordinating the findings in the assassinations of J.F.K., M.L.K., and R.F.K."

Charach is described in various stories in L.A. Free Press as "a former TV newscaster, who was covering the [Robert] Kennedy campaign for Continental News Service ... [who] has been for two years privately investigating inconsistencies he discovered by virtue of his being on the scene and in interviews with other witnesses ... ;" "free-lance investigative journalist;" "news documentarian;" "investigator-documentarian."
