

From story by Max Frankel, NYTimes, on formal speech by Nixon at first banquet in Peking:

.....

Using the most vivid image of Chinese revolutionary history, the president proposed a "long march" on different roads to the common goal of a "structure of peace."

..... He also spoke about his daughter Tricia's 26th birthday