

from column on miscellaneous items, by Maxine Cheshire:

..... President Nixon won't be red-faced if the Russians don't roll out the red carpet for him when he visits Moscow in May. Air Force I now reportedly carries a long length of plush scarlet pile by Edward Fields, bought for the trip to Peking because someone suspected correctly that the Red Chinese might not make the colorful welcoming gesture themselves .....