Mrs. Nhu Blames It All on JFK

MILAN (Italy) — (AP) — The Italian weekly magazine L'Europeo published an interview with Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu today and quoted her as saying:

"Kennedy and his 'hawks' wanted war when peace was at hand . . . wanted a massacre to save face."

She added in an interview with the magazine's Sandro Ottolenghi:

"If the Americans had wanted peace instead of war, there would have been peace in Vietnam for eight years."

She affirmed reports in the Pentagon papers that President John F. Kennedy wanted her brother-in-law, President Ngo Dinh Diem, out of the way in September 1963 because he feared Diem would sell out to the Communists.

"President Kennedy wanted the heads of my husband and his brother. I do not want to say now that Kennedy ordered them killed. But he did order gotten out of the way these two men who constituted, in his eyes, a bad example for the nations of Southeast Asia."
