Joy in the Davis Camp

When the verdict of not guilty on all counts against Angela Davis was brought in by a jury in San Jose yesterday, jubilation reigned in the ranks of the militant black Communist and her supporters. Below, Angela, her friends and relatives, including her mother and father, extreme left, join the celebration party. Right, above, Miss

Davis is photographed with her mother Sallye during victory celebration that followed announcement of acquittal. Below, right, three supporters receive the tidings with unrestrained happiness. At the bottom, left, two boys, one wearing an Angela sweatshirt, are among those who gathered outside the court to await the verdict.
