Chief, Saxbe Disagree

By Bob Kuttner Washington Post Staff Writer

Kelley and his immediate superior, Attorney General William B. Saxbe, disagreed yes-

ern Christian Leadership Con-|"responsibilities to the Ameriference, and the Congress on can people." FBI Director Clarence M. Racial Equality, as well as extremist groups.

The report, prepared by joint FBI-Criminal Division Division liam B. Saxbe, disagreed yes-terday over the wisdom and legality of FBI counterintelli-gence projects directed joint FBI-Oriminal Division committee headed by Assist-ant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen, termed some FBI activities "practices that can

Kelley's comments came in a five-page statement handed reporters at the close of the press conference, at which Saxbe termed disruption of groups "not somepolitical thing which we in a free soci-ety should condone."

But Kelley said the counterintelligence measures "helped bring about a favorable change" and that failure to icizing some methods used by the FBI to disrupt activist groups, including the Southcounterintelligence actions in emergencies.

FBI, From A1

Under its top-secret program, which the FBI called Cointelpro, a variety of disrup-tive methods were used including planting false information inside groups, or with proved. "friendly media" and FBI employers; using FBI informers to disrupt groups, and creating the suspicion that bona fide group members might be police spies.

But the Attorney General said he could foresee no situa-tion to justify Cointelpro type sion that would have to come from the Attorney General."

Saxbe also said he did not think legislation to prohibit domestic counterintelligence 1967, and 1969. was necessary.

Kelley and Saxbe also disa-greed over whether the projects had the approval of higher officials.

Kelley said he had conducted his own study, which convinced him that "the FBI officials involved in these programs acted entirely in good faith and within the bounds of what was expected of them by the Prrsident, the Attorney General, the Congress and the American people."

According to Petersen's reprojects very port, the first Cointelpro bethorized rupting the Communist Party.

Projects were later directed during the periods in which against the Socialist Workers they were implemented." Party, and other black or white radical political groups. In all, 2,370 counterintelligence operations eventually were aper initiated all such projects

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoovover initiated all such projects and terminated them on April 1971, after some Cointelpros were disclosed in documents stolen from the FBI office at Media, Pa.

According to Kelley, Hoo-According to Kelley, Hootion to justify Cointelpro type activities.

Asked whether there was a difference of opinion between himself and Kelley, Saxbe said pointedly, "Yes, but Mr. Kelley also recognizes in our dealings that this is a policy decision that would have to come

According to Kelley, Hootver first informed then Attorney General William P. Rogers about disruptive counter intelligence operations directed against "a revolutionary organization," prely um a bly the Communist Party, in 1958.

Later, Kelley said, neys General were briefed on Cointelpro projects against far-right groups in 1961, 1965,

However, Saxbe told reporters that knowledge of counterintelligence operations by offi-cials outside the FBI was "fragmentary." Petersen's report indicated that "only cer-tain aspects" of the counterintelligence operations were disclosed to higher officials, and that "none of the activities so reported involved any improper conduct."

According to Petersen, seven categories of Cointelpro projects were specifically authorized by Hoover, but Hoover, gan in 1956 as a means of dis-| "apparently not reported to during the periods in which

The "overwhelming bulk" of Cointelpro activities "were clearly legitimate and proper undertakings," Petersen's report concluded.

Officials said New groups targeted by the FBI beginning in 1968 were Students for a Democratic Society, the Progressive Labor Party, the Weathermen, and the Young Socialist Alliance.

Black groups subjected to counter-intelligence projects from 1967 to 1971 were CORE, SCLC, the Student Non-vio-lent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), the Black Panther Party, the Revolutionary Ac-tion Movement, and the Nation of Islam.

Radical right groups, begin-ning in 1964, included various Klux Klan organizations, the Minutemen, the American Nazi Party, and the National States Rights Party. In five cases, the FBI set up sham organizations to disrupt "white hate groups," the report

Design Stores Grow

Agence France-Presse'

BUCHAREST, Nov. President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia arrived here today as the guest of Romanian head of state Nicolae Ceausescu, the official Agrerpres but agency reported.