

... the Justice Department said for the first time that it had the power under the Constitution to eavesdrop on domestic groups, free of court supervision and without regard for the Fourth Amendment.

(Clipping filed Hoo - wiretapping.)