

SF Examiner, 2 Mar 71:

"[Froehlke] said the new directive [issued 1 Mar 71] would prohibit use of covert surveillance of persons or organizations without specific authorization of the Defense Secretary or his designee." (Last paragraph.)

How does the new directive differ from the original one? Is one to infer that the authorization is now limited to the Defense Secretary "or his designee"?