

27 Jan 75

Ziegler - Boston University's School of Public Communication withdraws its invitation; student government decides by 14-to-5 vote to cancel his lecture on "The Use and Abuse of Power," after strong faculty and student protests over paying Ziegler's $3,000 fee. "Printed signs saying 'Declare Ziegler Inoperative' [have been] displayed at the school." See also entry 30 Jan 75. A M P - A

Student opinion had originally favored Ziegler's appearance and apparently was influenced by the dean's argument that it would be "wrong" to help Ziegler "or anyone else get rich because of their association with the Watergate cover-up."

WXP 28 Jan 75, Special to the [WXP]

NYT 28 Jan 75, Notes on People

Special prosecutor - Attorney General-designate Edward H. Levi, during first day of hearings by Senate Judiciary Committee on his confirmation, makes [NYT:] "an absolute commitment" to protect the independence of the Watergate special prosecutor, but says he does not see the need to "create special prosecutors all over the place" for other special areas of investigation.

NYT 28 Jan 75, Linda Charlton

(27 Jan 75) AMP

Ⓐ - Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts says 29 Jan that students at Boston University have served to 'kill ... freedom of speech' by rescinding invitation to Ziegler.
WXP 31 Jan 75, David H. Kogut