McCord - Chief Justice Burger denies bail to McCord. "As a result, a mandate by the United States Court of Appeals affirming McCord's conviction will be issued to the trial court [tomorrow]. He will then be subject to early imprisonment unless further steps are taken in his behalf. Defense attorney William A. Mann said he was trying to decide what legal move to make next. He meanwhile has asked the Supreme Court to review the conviction."

Grand jury - "A special Watergate grand jury empaneled in August 1973 was released from its 18 months of duty [today] after having filed more indictments than any other Watergate grand jury. [Clipping lists some of these.] Assistant Watergate Special Prosecutor Richard J. Davis [said] that the end of the grand jury's term did not terminate any ongoing investigations, since another Watergate grand jury is continuing to sit."

Original Watergate grand jury completed its term 4 Dec 74. At that time there were two other juries still sitting.
