

News Summary and Index

NYTimes

SATURDAY, JUNE 29, 1974

JUN 29 1974

The Major Events of the Day

International

President Nixon and the Soviet leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev, moved toward an agreement that would reduce the number of anti-missile defense systems permitted under the treaty they signed two years ago. Authoritative sources said that negotiations at the Kremlin had focused on limiting each nation to a single antimissile complex instead of the two now allowed. The 1972 agreement permitted the United States and the Soviet Union to maintain two complexes with up to 100 launchers each, one to protect the capital region and the other to guard offensive strategic missiles. [1:8.]

High Administration officials have disclosed that President Nixon went to Moscow with his two top advisers on national security, Secretary of State Kissinger and Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, still in disagreement over what would constitute an acceptable accord now to limit strategic nuclear weapons. Mr. Kissinger and Mr. Schlesinger were described as having the kind of fundamental differences where neither can be shown to be right or wrong. One Administration official said that "it is a matter of judgment and the President has a clear choice." [1:7.]

The word "personal" was dropped from the official Soviet translation of a speech by President Nixon in Moscow in which he said that the "personal relationship" between him and Mr. Brezhnev would be the basis for continued Soviet-American detente. The deletion caused a controversy and the omission was interpreted by some in Moscow as indicating that the Soviet Government did not want to the relations with the United States to a President involved in impeachment proceedings. [10:1-2.]

The State Department said it had been informed that the eight Palestinian guerrillas who were convicted of killing two senior American diplomats and a Belgian in the Sudan last year were now in prison in Egypt. The department had denounced the virtual release of the eight men after commutation of their life sentences by the Sudanese Government on Monday. [1:5-6.]

In Portuguese Guinea, soldiers of the African Party for the Independence of Guinea and Cape Verde and troops of the Portuguese Army gingerly confronted each other, but the tension dissolved in smiles and handshakes. It was another of the fraternization meetings that have become daily occurrences between the two armies. [1:6-7.]

National

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. of the House Judiciary Committee was accused of bias by some Republicans, and a White House spokesman called for his discharge as head of the impeachment inquiry. A partisan furor followed an article in The Los Angeles Times that quoted Mr. Rodino as saying that all 21 Democrats on his committee were prepared to vote for President Nixon's impeachment. The chairman went to the House floor and denied and denounced the story and said there was no chance that he would resign. [1:3.]

John D. Ehrlichman's lawyers, offering a new defense in the White House "plumbers" case, accused David R. Young Jr., one of the co-conspirators in the Watergate prosecutor's case, and who is expected to be a key prosecution witness, of falsifying statements and documents against Mr. Ehrlichman "in order to save his own neck." [1:4.]

The three-year-old case of William Farr, a newspaper reporter who has been held in Los Angeles for contempt of court took another turn with the indictment of the chief prosecutor and a defense lawyer in the 1970 Charles Manson murder trial on three counts each of perjury. Vincent T. Bugliosi, the prosecutor, and Dave Shim, a defense attorney, were accused of perjuring themselves in denying they were the sources of an article by Mr. Farr about the Manson trial in The Los Angeles Herald Examiner. [1:4-5.]

Metropolitan

The chancellor of the State Board of Regents, under pressure from members who oppose busing, announced that the board would review its 14-year-old policy of firm support of busing as an integration tool in the state's public schools. This was a victory for the growing number of Regents who have expressed doubts about the policy of "forced" busing. The forthcoming review was condemned by Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, the board's only black member, who perceived that the decision to review the policy could be a prelude to weakening it. He said the review proposal was "the most serious crisis of my eight years on the board." [1:1-2.]

The Other News

International
Bhutto apologizes to Bangladesh for 171 events. Page 1
Hospitals provided by Japan's Communists. Page 2
Japan's Communists campaign on every-day issues. Page 2
North Korea sinks South Korean patrol boat. Page 2 Canada asks an Argentine nuclear pledge. Page 3
Sarajevo marks Archduke's assassination. Page 3 Italy's Premier wins a confidence vote. Page 3
French Assembly allows wide
contractive sales. Page 3
Marcos signs decree pardoning Moslem rebels. Page 4
Wilson and Rabin in London talks. Page 7
Hungary moves cautiously on friendship. Page 8
Tea and a circus for two
First Ladies. Page 10

Government and Politics
Ervin staff criticizes Nixon fund-raisers. Page 12
Common Cause campaign suit dismissed. Page 12 Panel bars public funding of campaigns. Page 14
Rabin drops out of Appeals
Court race. Page 19
Ballard leaves Conservatives
Governor race. Page 19
Illegal health-fund withold-ing alleged. Page 46

Energy Utility cutbacks hit nuclear energy. Page 1

General
Mahnun jury weighs complex revelations. Page 11
Police weigh psychological services plan. Page 24
Fischer renounces chess title in rules dispute. Page 27
Vergari plans Greenburgh inquiry. Page 32
Judge sentences 3 more in Grunman case. Page 45
Agency to consider "modest"
West Side road. Page 45

Health and Science
House rejects curb on abortion funds. Page 24

Amusements and the Arts
Theaters and Actors Equity reach accord. Page 15

Quotation of the Day

"Our reward is in paradise, not in Albany."—
T. David Ballard, an upstate Conservative, in denying withdrawal from party gubernatorial primary was linked to patronage jobs for Conservatives. [1:5.]

Sports

People in Sports: Stars get Dowling in '76. Page 20
Coach apologizes to Yugoslavia for loss. Page 20
Westrum replaces Fox as pilot of Giant. Page 21
Whinkles: "I couldn't handle
Frank Robinson." Page 21
Connors, Ashe win as rain continues. Page 21 Court supports horsemen on boycott in 1969. Page 21
It's present, not future, that worries Virton. Page 21

Notes on People

Editorials and Comment
Editorials and Letters. Page 28
C. L. Sulzberger: Domestic echoes abroad. Page 29
Russell Baker puts ear to the Kremlin. Page 29
William Colby explains C.I.A. need for secrecy. Page 29
O. E. Clubb on global economic power shift. Page 29
Frank Kristof on housing vs.
rent control. Page 29

News Analysis

Clifton Daniel on news leak phenomenon. Page 13
Gladwin Hill on Expo
theme. Page 32
Martin Tolchin on revenue-sharing formula. Page 34

Amer. Exchange	34	Market Averages	36
Bond Sales	39	Market Place	36
Business Briefs	39	Money	34
Business Records	34	Mutual Funds	41
Commodities	34	N.Y. Stock Exch	36
Dividends	34	Out-of-Town	34
Foreign Exchange	39	Over the Counter	41
Grains	34		