

News Summary and Index

NTimes SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1974 SEP 28 1974

The Major Events of the Day

International

Senators Jacob K. Javits, New York Republican, and Claiborne Pell, Rhode Island Democrat, both members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, flew to Havana, perhaps encouraged by this country's cautious flirtation with the idea of resuming economic and diplomatic relations with Cuba. Their trip had the approval of Premier Fidel Castro, but was made against the wishes of the State Department. [1:1-2.]

Barbara A. Hutchison, director of the United States Information Service in Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic was kidnapped by armed men who then took over the Venezuelan consulate, where they seized seven more hostages. The kidnapers, identified as Dominican leftists, planted bombs throughout the consulate and threatened to blow it up unless the United States paid them $1-million. [1:1.]

Silvio Frondizi, brother of former President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina, was assassinated in Buenos Aires by armed men who kidnapped him from his home, police sources said. Mr. Frondizi, 67 years old, was a lawyer and prominent Marxist. His death brings to 91 the number of people killed for political reasons in Argentina since the death of President Juan Domingo Peron on July 1. Mr. Frondizi's son-in-law was killed when he tried to prevent the kidnapping. [1:1.]

Pope Paul VI opened the fourth Synod of Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Rome. The synod, whose theme is "evangelization in the modern world," is an advisory body established after Ecumenical Council Vatican II, the meeting of the church of 1962-65. [1:3-4.]

National

President Ford appealed again for bipartisan cooperation on economic policy as he opened the national conference on inflation in Washington, but almost from the moment he finished his brief speech political and ideological differences with Democrats became apparent. The Speaker of the House, Carl Albert, Oklahoma Democrat, immediately followed Mr. Ford with a tough speech that emphasized a wide divergence of economic views between Democrats and Republicans and made it clear that the President could not automatically count on Democratic support in Congress. [1:8.]

The Other News

International

Senior aide tells why Ford will visit Korea. Page 2
U.N. credentials unit rejects South Africa. Page 2
Peace of Communist attacks worries Saigon. Page 2
Nadu politics. Page 2
Italian President addresses General Assembly. Page 3
Waldheim prods wealthier lands to help needy. Page 3
Pentagon silent on costs of new weapons. Page 5
East Germany formally abjures reunification. Page 6
Soviet offering subsidy to bolster birth rate. Page 7
Artists leave, ending double life in Soviet. Page 31

Government and Politics

Democrats' ready cash exceeds Democrats'. Page 11
Energy conservation was a major issue at the inflation conference. Americans were called on to save oil and gasoline, even if it meant some personal discomfort, as a means of lessening the country's dependence on imported oil and, consequently, weakening the prices set by the oil-exporting countries. George Meany, president of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., said "I think we should get back to where we were last winter, to where we have some restrictions on pleasure driving." Senator Gaylord Nelson, Wisconsin Democrat, called for a Federal requirement that all automobiles should get 25 miles to the gallon "within an appropriate time, which wouldn't have to be very far away." [1:5.]

Metropolitan

Stanley C. Van Ness, the New Jersey Public Defender, called for a new trial for Rubin (Hurricane) Carter, a former boxer, John Artis, who are serving life sentences for a triple homicide, because of newly discovered evidence of perjury by two key witnesses. The Passaic County Prosecutor, Joseph D. J. Courtney, said he would "resist strenuously" any court move to upset the 1967 convictions. [1:1-2.]

The Federal Government, admitting that it had failed the wrong man for five months, freed a Chilean identified as Carlos Choy Zeballos, who had been held on a narcotics charge. Mr. Choy said he had been "forcibly abducted" and brought here by United States agents or at their direction. A Government spokesman said the abduction claim was "patent nonsense." [1:8.]

The city's Rent Guidelines Board approved a complicated tenant-oriented change in rent limits previously set for 400,000 apartments. Increases in the coming nine months would be far lower than previously allowed if landlords had received big rises over the last three years, when their apartments were under vacancy decontrol. [3:1-3.]

Quotation of the Day
"Let us not be paralyzed by fear."—Pope Paul VI, complaining of "the ocean of incredulity, indifference and hostility" confronting the church. [1:3.]

General

Most states ready for returning exiles. Page 5
Nixon's doctor says surgery is not needed. Page 11
Boston Mayor co-defendant in busing case. Page 13
Mrs. Ford enters hospital for breast surgery. Page 14
Assemblyman gets 6 months for perjury. Page 31
Metropolitan Briefs. Page 33
State orders more auditors at milk plants. Page 33
Woman sentenced in F.H.A. fraud case. Page 33
Planning Commission opens budget hearings. Page 33
New guidelines confuse owners and tenants. Page 33

Industry and Labor

Blacks and women given bumping rights. Page 9
Ramsay Clark warns on nuclear-power peril. Page 10
2 Senators warn on plutonium as nuclear fuel. Page 10
Impairment found from minor concussions. Page 12
Medical experts debate "drug lag." Page 12

Health and Science

Ammenments and the Arts
Tiny Japanese carvings to be auctioned. Page 14

Sports

Frazier gets new Knick chore: team captain. Page 20
Cards win, 10-4, but suffer five injuries. Page 21
Aspromonte says he's out as Indian manager. Page 21
McCarron, apprentice, rides 6 winners at Bowie. Page 21
Bowling comes to Moscow "for the masses." Page 21
Jets' offensive line healed for Bills' game. Page 22
Giants await Too Tall Jones. Page 22
Dallas quiet man. Page 22
Pincay gets triple, points for Woodward. Page 22
"Angry" U.S.C. eleven to test Pitt today. Page 23
Team Canada defeats Finland six by 8-3. Page 23

Notes on People

Editorials and Comment
Russell Baker proposes an electoral reform. Page 29
William Shannon on the U.S. as missionary. Page 29
Claude Levi-Strauss on cultural similarities. Page 29
Dorothy Rodgers pays visit to Social Security. Page 29

Obituaries

Vera Vague, radio and television comedienne. Page 32
Michael Quinn, a keeper at Bronx Zoo. Page 32
Barnett S. Guzen, architect and engineer. Page 32
Business and Financial
Stock index off 16.03 to a 12-year low. Page 35
Jamaica negotiating on aluminum role. Page 35
Ling's Omega-Alpha files for reorganization. Page 35
U.S. ambassador is critical of Canada. Page 35
Patents of Week: pollution-control. Page 35

Amer. Exchange	42	Market Averages	42
Bond Sales	39	Market Place	36
Business Briefs	40	Money	42
Business Records	38	Mutual Funds	41
Commodities	34	N.Y. Stock Exch	36
Dividends	40	Out-of-Town	42
Foreign Exchange	39	Over the Counter	41
Grains	34

CORRECTIONS

An article in The Times on Sept. 14 incorrectly stated that one former convict who had completed the job-training program coordinated by Private Concerns, Inc., had been rearrested. None of the program's graduates has been rearrested.

A Town Hall spokesman says ticket prices for the "5:45 Interludes" series are $2.50 for each event, not $2 for the general public and $1.25 for those older than 65, as was erroneously reported Wednesday on the basis of information provided by the hall.