

News Summary and Index

NYTimes SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1974 NOV 16 1974

The Major Events of the Day

International

President Ford has refused to permit the American delegation to the World Food Conference in Rome to commit the United States to a million-ton increase in food aid, though the White House says increased commitments will be met. The decision overshadowed other developments yesterday, in which progress was reported on plans for more food in the future. President Ford's decision was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Butz, who criticized three Democratic Senators who had pressed for the increase. [Page I, Column 8.]

Secretary of State Kissinger said that President Ford and he were going to the Far East this weekend convinced that the Middle East was safe from any immediate outbreak of fighting. He took note at a news conference, however, of reports from the Middle East suggesting that a new war was imminent there. [1:6-7.]

Recent rulings—affecting South Africa and Israel, for example — by the President of the current General Assembly, Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika of Algeria, have caused uneasiness among Western delegates at United Nations headquarters and general disillusionment with the organization. But the President has wide support in his own Arab bloc and among representatives of emerging countries. [1:5.]

National

A proposed coal miners' strike became an increasing possibility last night when the union's officers failed unexpectedly for the second day to obtain the first step in membership approval of a proposed contract. Observers said the strike might last three weeks instead of the expected 14 days. The union's bargaining council recessed until this morning. [1:1.]

The Federal Reserve Board reported that the output of the nation's factories, utilities and mines all declined in October. The drop, six-tenths of 1 per cent, in the board's index of industrial production, added a significant element to the emerging statistical picture of an economy in recession. [1:1-2.]

President Ford, under strong pressure from the United States sugar industry, is expected to announce within the next few days a new quota system for United States purchases of foreign sugar that in effect continues the provisions of the expiring Sugar Act. The advantage claimed by the Administration for maintaining a quota system is that such a system would preclude a rise in the tariff on sugar that would otherwise occur when the Sugar Act expires on Dec. 31. However, the quota will continue to limit foreign access to the American market, where sugar prices have tripled this year. [1:1-2.]

The Chrysler Corporation is seriously considering closing most of its United States assembly plants for the month of December because of a severe decline in automobile sales. One of the Chrysler plants was closed indefinitely. [1:1.]

Laurance S. Rockefeller told the Senate Rules Committee that he invested $65,000 in the publication of an unflattering biography of Arthur J. Goldberg as a business venture in 1970 on the basis of five minutes of conversation and forgot all about the matter until it came under investigation. [1:4.]

Metropolitan

New York City's Board of Education released a plan to redraw the district lines of five community school districts in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn to bring average daily attendance in the districts up to the state-mandated minimum of 15,000 pupils. The plan was immediately attacked by the board's vice president, Isaiah E. Robinson, as a potential source of new social and political disputes. [1:6-7.]

Parks Commissioner Edwin L. Weis� Jr. has proposed to Mayor Beame the transfer of New York's municipal zoos to the quasi-public New York Zoological Society to improve the condition of the animals. [1:8.]

F. M. Flynn, former president and publisher of The Daily News, died at New York Hospital at the age of 71. Mr. Flynn retired as publisher of The News in January, 1973, but remained active until he suffered a heart attack last month. [1:6.]

Ronald DeFeo Jr. was under a special narcotics probation when, according to the police, he murdered his parents and four younger brothers and sisters at their home in Amityville, L.I. Tuesday night. He is 23 years old, and was the oldest child. Neither the police nor the District Attorney's office would speculate about a motive, but the local chief of detectives said "there are insurance policies." [1:8:3-5.]

The Other News

International

Rabin says Soviet arms in Syria. Page 2
The Talk of Halkis: An election heats. Page 2
Jordan urges U.N. to back Palestinians. Page 3

Logistics experts assess Middle East forces. Page 3
Peruvians link Peace Corps to spying. Page 6
Brazil voting in freest election in decade. Page 7
Resilient poor survive African drought. Page 8

Saigon Assembly session erupts in tumult. Page 9
Opposition demonstration is frustrated in Seoul. Page 9
Quebec Indians win land-claim settlement. Page 11
Peking shifts are tied to Kissinger trip. Page 13
French evict striking postal workers. Page 13

Government and Politics
Carey moves to repay campaign debts. Page 8
A.E.C. chief denies suppressing safety data. Page 15
Ex-Nixon aide guilty in political fund. Page 17
Haldeman lawyers cite concern for C.I.A. Page 17
DeBello files his first county budget. Page 24

General
Nixon lawyer ordered to report to judge. Page 16
Jane Albert calls surfacing "right thing to do." Page 18
The Tombs will be closed this year. Page 23
In 15 years, jets have changed face of Hawaii. Page 32
Metropolitan Briefs. Page 35

Services are held for victim of hazing. Page 35
Sculpture installed in Upper Manhattan park. Page 35
West Side Highway plans to be disclosed soon. Page 35
Ford's "Fly U.S. Program" assaulted. Page 50

Industry and Labor
Dairyland Milk is indicted on two charges. Page 50
Education and Welfare
Old people tell of their ordeal. Page 18

Quotation of the Day

"This is one investment I wish I had not made, least of all because of the loss involved, but most importantly because it has proved to be an embarrassment to my brother Nelson and Mr. Justice Goldberg, who happens to be someone I personally admire."—Laurance S. Rockefeller, testifying on the critical biography of Arthur J. Goldberg. [1:4.]

School, aides raid payroll-company office. Page 19
Amusements and the Arts
Light Opera troupe sings "Princess Ida." Page 20
Barenholm conducts the Bruckner Fifth. Page 20
"Earthquake" brings disaster to screen. Page 20
"Savage Is Loose" begins film run. Page 21
David von Schlegell sculpture is displayed. Page 24
Stage designs shown at Morgan Library. Page 27
"Doctor Frigo," an intrigue novel, reviewed. Page 29
Boom tapers off in antique market. Page 29
Judge bids TV end "abuse" of power. Page 50
F.C.C. eases curbs on Pay-TV. Page 50
Television. Page 50

Going Our Guide Page 21
Family/Style
Miniature furniture popular with collectors. Page 22
Conference held on "Women and Population." Page 22
Wine Talk: The vicissitudes of Bordeaux. Page 22

Obituaries
Omar Sagqaf, Saudi Arabia's Foreign Minister. Page 34
F. Truber Davison of Natural History Museum. Page 34
Johnny Mack Brown, cowboy star of 1940's. Page 34

Business and Financial
Market prices drop sharply in slower trading. Page 41
Citibank reduces its key rate to 10 1/4 per cent. Page 41
Kissinger energy plan wins good response. Page 41
Indiana Standard-Occidental plan criticized. Page 41
Bid by Hunts is fought in court. Page 41
Wall St. is circus at Financial Falls. Page 41
People and Business: U.S.-Canadian energy tie. Page 48

Sports
Hayes has 3-shot golf lead in South Africa. Page 36
People in Sports: Is Plunkett worth $1-million? Page 36
Gottfried upsets Villas, gains final with Connors. Page 37
Knicks try the SuperSonics tonight at Garden. Page 37
Nets elated by mark on tough road trip. Page 37
Giants' game another "amust" for Gillette. Page 37
Secretariat becomes a sire for first time. Page 37
Hayley finds no success in telling truth. Page 37
Jets get good news: Hill to play tomorrow. Page 38
Rangers face Canadiens first time tonight. Page 38
Some Bowl elevens may lose again today. Page 39
OTB sleepchase scene set in South Carolina. Page 39

Editorials and Comment
Editorials and Letters. Page 30
C. L. Sulzberger on bending the U.N. rules. Page 31
Russell Baker on proclaiming the obvious. Page 31
Nate Shaw: an autobiographical episode. Page 31

News Analysis
Lawrence K. Altman on care of Nixon. Page 16

CORRECTION

The Market Place column in yesterday's New York Times contained an error concerning a secondary stock offering. A corrective article appears in today's Market Place column on Page 42.