

The Major Events of the Day

International

The United States warned the United Nations that support for it in Congress and among the American people is eroding. Speaking in the General Assembly, John A. Scali, the chief United States delegate, criticized the recent organization's drift toward dominance by a broad coalition of developing countries, including very small ones, backed by the Communist powers. Mr. Scali asserted that a recent trend in the United Nations to "adopt one-sided, unrealistic resolutions that cannot be implemented" was accelerating, and he said there was a new threat—a growing tendency by the United Nations to flout its own charter. [Page 1, Column 8.]

Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger described the proposed new arms agreement with the Soviet Union as "a major step forward" but acknowledged it would lead to larger strategic forces than previously planned by the United States. He foresees a major restructuring of the country's strategic forces, with an increasing reliance on submarine-based missiles. [1:6-7.]

National

The Labor Department reported that the nation's unemployment rate sharply increased in November for the third consecutive month, reaching 6.5 per cent of the labor force, or just under 6 million jobless persons, the highest rate in 13 years. Total employment had its first large decrease since the economic slowdown began a year ago. After rising gently through most of 1974, the number of jobs dropped by about 800,000 last month. [1:1-2.]

The Democratic party, gathered in Kansas City, Mo., in the first non-Presidential convention in American politics, outlined a program of "economic recovery" for the country and prepared to adopt today a harmony charter of rules and broad principles for itself. The economic agenda, combining anti-inflation controls with anti-recession stimulation, was presented as an alternative to the "callous economic nonsense" of the Ford Administration. [1:6-7.]

Acknowledging that voluntary efforts to curb oil imports were not going as well as hoped, the White House press secretary, Ron Nessen, said that President Ford planned to announce new energy conservation proposals next month. He said he thought that

The Other News

International

In Peking, calls for unity seem edgy. Page 2
Palestinians raid kibbutz near Lebanon. Page 3
Efforts pressed to unite Rhodesian blacks. Page 3
Cypriotes await return of Makarios today. Page 4
Giscard reports trade pact with Soviet. Page 6
Soviet parliamentary sit-in goes on. Page 8
Mrs. Gandhi admits family planning jags. Page 10
Iraqi President is reported critically ill. Page 11
Iran moves unevenly toward "great civilization." Page 12

Government and Politics

Judges ask Sirica not to hurry Watergate trial. Page 14
Democrats begin work on platform for '76. Page 16
Democrats watch parade of candidates. Page 16

General

Clerk negotiates end to hold-up of supermarket. Page 1
Sketch Henderson denies tax evasion on stand. Page 21
Italian Line resumes cargo service here. Page 32
Metropolitan Briefs. Page 33
Efforts to block deer hunt fail. Page 33
High Medicaid fees laid to 14 nursing homes. Page 33
Beane reports drop in city employees. Page 33
City's supervisors seek parity with Civil Service. Page 33
Decision near on Ray's plea for new trial. Page 48

Industry and Labor

Some picketing mars coal-strike end. Page 17
Construction workers will be laid off beginning Monday. City Council President Paul O'Dwyer called for immediate replacement of the consortium. [1:4.]

Education and Welfare

District 9 school trustee is still locked out. Page 30
Joseph H. Rodriguez, chairman of the New Jersey State Commission of Investigation, declared that the "facts" of official corruption in Lindenwald, a suburban borough of Camden, "symbolize the Democratic process of local government operating at its worst." He made the statement at the end of three days of public hearings on allegations of misconduct by officials. [3:3-6.]

Religion

Hannukah to start at sundown tomorrow. Page 32
Amusements and the Arts
Roszak and Blume display new art. Page 19
New paintings by Larry Rivers shown. Page 20
Strike by orchestra at City Ballet is averted. Page 22

Quotation of the Day

"Many Americans are questioning their belief in the United Nations. They are deeply disturbed."—John A. Scali, chief U.S. delegate, at the United Nations. [1:8.]

"Desperate Hours" revived

at Equity Theater. Page 22
Show of antique paper-weights opens. Page 26
Schroth's "Eagle and Brooklyn" reviewed. Page 27
Scientist cancels TV "Primate" discussion. Page 49

Going Out Guide

Family/Style Schoolchildren visit country as part of studies. Page 24
Regrading of beef is now being considered. Page 24
Two women have written books about wine. Page 24

Obituaries

Dr. Raymond Sites, an expert on Leonardo. Page 32

Business and Financial

Stock prices tumble to 12-year low. Page 39
Schmidt and Ford in economic talks. Page 39
N.A.M. delegates see recession lingering. Page 39
Higher coal price due as mine strike ends. Page 39
Britain to partially nationalize Leyland Motor. Page 39
U.S. antitrust unit to study 10 big industries. Page 39
Patents: Device projects 3-D motion pictures. Page 39
People and Business: French banker optimistic. Page 43

Sports

St. Louis Howard meet today for soccer title. Page 34
People in Sports: Teaff U.P.I. coach of year. Page 34
Mystery surrounding career of Walton deepens. Page 35
Baseball owners close ranks and meetings. Page 35
U.S. team protests penalty to 2 of its skiers. Page 35
Martin shifts suspension plea to Racing Board. Page 35
Mix, former castoff, gives 76ers spirit. Page 35

CORRECTIONS

An article printed on Thursday in The New York Times indicated that a program of grants aimed at assessing the political implications of women volunteers had just been announced by the Center for the American Woman and Politics at the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University, in New Brunswick, N. J. The program was announced earlier, and the grants have already been made.

In the Notes on People column yesterday, it was reported incorrectly that the Order of the Yugoslav Flag was presented to Representative John A. Blatnik, Democrat of Minnesota, by Ambassador Toma Granfil in ceremonies in Belgrade. The ceremony took place in Washington.

Editorials and Comment

Editorials and Letters. Page 28
C. L. Sulzberger sees three-cornered summit. Page 29
Russell Baker captions D.C. picture book. Page 29
Suzanne Lobl argues for medical privacy. Page 29
J. Robert Schaezel: Europe needs our attention. Page 29

Notes on People

Al Ulman, prospective head of Mills committee. Page 17

Man in the News

Winners of World Bowl are also losers. Page 36
Misses Austin, Meister tie for lead in golf. Page 37

Miller in four-way golf tie

with 69—138. Page 35
Q's, missing 2 stars, face Nets at Coliseum. Page 36
Ferguson of Bills aims only at No. 1 rating. Page 36
Rookie quarterback has Eagles in air again. Page 36
Winners of World Bowl are also losers. Page 36
Misses Austin, Meister tie for lead in golf. Page 37