

The Major Events of the Day

International

The North Vietnamese National Assembly urged yesterday that Hanoi eventually be made the capital of a reunified Vietnam. The statement, broadcast over the Hanoi radio and monitored in Bangkok, was in a report of the first meeting of fifth session of the National Assembly, at which the country's leaders were re-elected. [Page 1, Column 2.]

Liberalization of the laws regulating the cultivation of opium and the narcotics traffic in Laos has been proposed by the Communist-led Pathet Lao. This is worrying United States officials and threatens to halt a two-month-old United Nations program to discourage opium production. [1:5.]

Soon after her father's death in March, Christina Onassis, who was born in New York, took steps to renounce her United States citizenship and to give the American portion of the Onassis shipping empire to a charity. In April, Miss Onassis relinquished control of Victory Carriers, Inc., a shipping concern that has eight United States-flag ships. According to the United States Maritime Administration in Washington, Miss Onassis ordered established a United States-based trust that would hold Victory Carriers for the benefit of the American Hospital in Paris, where her father died. [7:1.]

National

Democratic Governors gathering in New Orleans for an annual midyear meeting agreed that the only one of their colleagues running an active campaign for the Presidency—George C. Wallace of Alabama—would draw a big bloc of delegates but would not win. Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah, chairman of the National Governors Conference, who is a moderate conservative, said at a news conference that he could not support a ticket with Mr. Wallace on it. Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida called on Mr. Wallace to support the Democratic nominee regardless of who he is, and not bolt to a third party. [1:1.]

Attorney General Edward H. Levi said that it was not within the constitutional authority of the President of the United States to order the assassination of foreign heads of state. He emphasized that he was not suggesting that President Eisenhower and President Kennedy, under whose Administrations the possibility of such plots was allegedly studied, had vicaried state or Federal laws because "consideration of alter-natives is not the same thing as ordering the violations." But he left open the question of whether any of the living "subordinates of the late Presidents who were involved in planning and attempting to implement alleged assassination plots would be subjected to a criminal investigation by the Justice Department. [1:6-7.]

Government investigators have broadened their inquiries into illegal political contributions and bribery abroad by American corporations to include a dozen additional corporations that constitute a "who's who" of American industry. In addition to companies already identified publicly, the investigation has been extended to the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, the Exxon Corporation, the Mobil Oil Corporation, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), the Del Monte Corporation and American Airlines. [1:3-4.]

A Senate investigating team directed by Senator Edward M. Kennedy charged that the Administration's program for resettling 131,210 Indochinese refugees has turned into a "shambles" because of "failure of leadership." A report to the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Refugees and Escapees blamed the Inter-agency Task Force on Refugees for "bureaucratic roadblocks." [1:5.]

Metropolitan

Governor Carey's panel of advisers on the city's financial situation shuttled back and forth between meetings at Gracie Mansion and meetings with lawyers representing the city's financial institutions, putting final touches on the bill that would establish the Municipal Assistance Corporation. The corporation would assume responsibility for $3-billion of the city's short-term debt, thereby easing the city's fiscal problems. One of the problems that still had to be resolved dealt with the ceiling proposed for future city short-term borrowing and whether that ceiling should include bond-anticipation notes. [1:8.]

A special task force appointed by Governor Carey has proposed a "basic reform" of the way the state's public schools are financed as well as other major changes in the structure of public education. Among the proposals are increased state support for education and for new efforts to narrow the gap in school expenditures by wealthy and poor communities. Many of the proposals dealt with New York City's schools. [1:6-7.]

The Other News

International

Kremlin gives insight into its politics. Page 2

Manila leader continues Pe-king talks. Page 2

Vietnams suffering from outbreak of rumors, Maoist extremists active in India again. Page 3

Train collision near Munich kills at least 25. Page 8

Lisbon sends out political teaching teams. Page 9

Polish church and state improve relations. Page 10

Israelis kill Arab terrorist in battle. Page 11

Surinam Bush Negroes wary of independence. Page 12

Several hundred reported killed in Angola. Page 13

Italian economic recovery stun experts. Page 16

Government and Politics

Major parties cooperate on state bill. Page 20

Coalition fights new H.E.W. bias rule. Page 24

Senator Bayh waits for "that moment." Page 26

Funds to rebuild Westchester parkways lacking. Page 33

Chicago papers attack New York fiscal crisis. Page 36

Connecticut Democrats show Assembly power. Page 50

General

New disclosures of illegality stir Chicago. Page 22

Coast jury split in Foster murder case. Page 25

Group puts black joblessness at 25.7%. Page 27

Carey repeats appeal to doctors. Page 32

Bridge-toll rise results in more car-pooling. Page 33

In Connecticut, it's "thumbs up" for hitchhikers. Page 33

Metropolitan Briefs. Page 35

Puerto Ricans parade up Fifth Avenue. Page 35

Conservative tone growing in Flushing, Queens. Page 35

First woman cantor is designated here. Page 35

Report assails foster-care placement. Page 35

Out-of-towners find praise for New York. Page 36

Quotation of the Day

"I think it is important in terms of the morality of our country, our way of life and the things we believe in, to say that it really is beyond the power of the President to order assassination." —Attorney General Edward H. Levi during a television interview. [1:6.]

Curtlew renewed in racially tense Carolina town. Page 51

Health and Science

Technology office aiding U.S. on complex issues. Page 34

Russians launch craft to explore Venus. Page 45

Amusements and the Arts

History of submarine war on Japan reviewed. Page 29

"Leaves of Malice" is staged in Canada. Page 43

"Le Chat," film of soured marriage, opens. Page 43

Rolling Stones tour is a military operation. Page 44

City Ballet in newer repertory pieces. Page 45

New Stuttgart casts dance "Romeo and Juliet." Page 45

"60 Minutes" repeats Syrian Jews show. Page 53

Going Out Guide Page 44

About New York Page 27

Family/Style

Their gardens in the sky are like Versailles. Page 56

How to make those elusive sausage patties. Page 56

A list of new books on subject of embroidery. Page 56

Obituaries

Edith Baker Schiff, a philanthropist. Page 34

Business and Financial

Small new auto models selling well. Page 47

Books

See the interesting, lively reviews of new books every weekday on the book page of The New York Times. And every Sunday you'll enjoy the variety of news, reviews and essays about books, authors and publishers in The New York Times Book Review.

Bond rates are expected to fall further. Page 47

Korea aims clean-up drive at corruption. Page 47

U.S.-French compromise on gold is sought. Page 47

Personal Finance: Confusion on Keogh plans. Page 48

Page | Mutual Funds ... 49
 Dividends ... 48 | Personal Finance 48

Sports

Sunday racing draws 40,849 to Belmont Park. Page 37

Avatar and Shoemaker take off for California. Page 37

Yankess capture 8th in row, beating White Sox. Page 37

Mets win, 7-6, on wild pitch in 14th inning. Page 37

Nastase and Tanner are upset in French tennis. Page 37

Sprinters are aware of man who wasn't there. Page 38

Cosmo sent to 3-2 defeat by Lancens. Page 38

Mrs. Garner is victor at Pine Plains by 6 shots. Page 39

Lauda takes 3d grand prix in a row. Page 39

Bonds, knee bruised, hopes to play soon. Page 40

Roundup: Holtzman, Palmer hurl one-hitters. Page 41

Editorials and Comment

Editorials and Letters. Page 30

Anthony Lewis: Racial mix in Capetown rugby. Page 31

William Safire on the importance of privacy. Page 31

James P. Conner: Unemployment and blacks. Page 31

News Analysis

Martin Tolchin on New York fiscal crisis. Page 36

CORRECTION

A photograph that appeared on Page 1 of the Sunday New York Times incorrectly identified Vietnam veteran Fredrick Saunders as Perry Phillips.