

News Summary and Index

SEP 9 1975 TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1975 SEP 9 1975

The Major Events of the Day

International

Boris Spassky, the former world chess champion, is testing the Soviet Union's sincerity in fulfilling the spirit as well as the letter of the humanitarian provisions of the Helsinki declaration. The 30,000-word document deals mainly with the inviolability of frontiers and noninterference in internal affairs, but it also contains a few paragraphs inserted at Western insistence, dealing with marriage between citizens of different nations. Mr. Spassky wants to marry a French woman, and he believes Soviet authorities might want to block the marriage. He has cited the Helsinki declaration in his behalf. [Page 3, Columns 5-8.]

National

The Justice Department said in a brief filed in Federal District Court in Washington that Congress had ample reason to conclude that former President Nixon "would not be a trustworthy custodian, even temporarily," of his Presidential papers. The brief upheld the law that placed the Nixon papers under Government control. It also cited "what Congress perceived, again quite rationally, as Mr. Nixon's propensity to distort the historical record." [1:1-2.]

Boston's public schools began their court-ordered citywide busing program with attendance down by one-third, but with only scattered incidents of violence. State and Federal law enforcement officers, including agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, joined Boston police officers to prevent a repetition of the stoning of buses that occurred last year when the city's schools opened under a limited desegregation program. "It was better than last year," an aide to Mayor Kevin H. White said. [1:5.]

Senior Army officials disclosed that LSD was surreptitiously given to soldiers in cocktails in much the same way the Central Intelligence Agency did in an experiment that led to the death of one of its employees. They testified at the start of hearings on drug experimentation in the military forces being held by a House Armed Services subcommittee. They said that both the Army and research institutions working under contract to the Army at times failed to follow "sound ethical principles" in their experiments with hallucinogenics and other drugs involving more than 7,000 persons in the last 25 years. [1:1.]

Metropolitan

Following the collapse of efforts by state mediators and fact-finders to extend temporarily the teachers' contract that expired at midnight, the delegate assembly and membership of the United Federation of Teachers voted to strike the city's 950 public schools today. The strike would affect more than one million schoolchildren. [1:8.]

State Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist proposed that tuition fees be imposed on all City University students, with full-time undergraduates paying the same fees as State University students—$650 a year for freshmen and sophomores and $800 a year for juniors and seniors. He has recommended that the Board of Higher Education act on the proposal at its next meeting on Sept. 22. The new fees would become effective next spring and would yield revenue of $32-million a year. Mr. Nyquist said. [1:6-7.]

Amid warnings of a fiscal disaster and exchanges of partisan recriminations, the State Assembly passed and sent to the Senate Governor Carey's $2.3-billion emergency plan to prevent default by New York City. Warren M. Anderson, the Binghamton Republican and Senate majority leader, gave the plan his support as the Democratic-controlled Assembly approved it 80 to 70 after a six-hour debate. [1:4.]

The Municipal Assistance Corporation, currently unable to sell its bonds to major institutional investors, will try to sell some bonds directly to the public in denominations of $50 and $100. The plan to augment the sale of $1,000 and $5,000 bonds was disclosed during the debate in the State Assembly on Governor Carey's $2.3-billion financial-aid plan for New York City. [1:3.]

A New York State Public Service Commission examiner has endorsed, despite the opposition of the commission's staff, a special two-year surcharge proposed for the customers of 12 gas utilities that would finance the utilities' participation in a natural gas exploration and development program. The total surcharge, the utilities said, would be $15.7-million. If the commission approves the proposal, it would be the first time that regulators in New York have accepted a highly controversial financing concept that shifts initial financing costs to company's customers from its stockholders. Capital financing is generally raised through the sales of securities or loans. [1:6-7.]

The Other News

International
Turkish quake victims fight over bread. Page 2

Spassky case seen as a test for Moscow. Page 3

Soviet admits dissident scientist to parley. Page 3

Ford gets Jewish leaders' backing on Sinai. Page 3

Israeli, at U.N., offers Arabs use of ports. Page 5

Street fighting goes on in Lebanese port. Page 6

Greece hoping to attract U.S. investments. Page 7

Black markets flourish in Eastern Europe. Page 8

London and Ireland in dispute over terrorist. Page 10

Malaysia's economic spurt a benefit to few. Page 12

Ford meets with Chinese trade mission. Page 13

Government and Politics
Mass poison developed by C.I.A. is found. Page 1

House Republicans offer legislative program. Page 14

Postal Service asks doubling of subsidy. Page 16

Security to be "as usual" in Ford's trip. Page 21

G.O.P. aims at $25-million for campaign. Page 22

Kansas City welcomes convention decision. Page 23

Goldin refuses bills of alleged city impostor. Page 32

National Park Service re-evaluation policies. Page 33

Energy
Ford expected to prevail on oil prices. Page 15

General
Former Holiday magazine editor is slain. Page 24

Hoffa witness told to plead Fifth. Page 26

Lawyer says Byrne offered to free Bronfman. Page 33

Donor to Suffolk G.O.P. accused of forgery. Page 36

Metropolitan Briefs. Page 41

Councilman opposes billboards at subway exits. Page 41

Industry and Labor
Border patrol accused of impeding farm vote. Page 18

Most West Virginia miners are back to work. Page 20

Quotation of the Day

"Mr. Nixon, having conversed with these people without advising them that they were being recorded, is ill-fitted to attempt now to assert their rights of free speech."—The Justice Department, in a brief filed in Washington, defending the law that placed former President Nixon's papers in the Government's control. [27:2]

Education and Welfare

Louisville busing resumes as more pupils enroll. Page 28

Functional literacy of students increased. Page 28

The board's negotiator in the teacher talks. Page 29

Parents force closing of some schools on 1st day. Page 30

Two Catholic schools curtail classes. Page 30

Health and Science

Doubt cast on finding of magnetism particle. Page 1

Amusements and the Arts

Yates's "Disturbing the Peace" is reviewed. Page 43

Critics rediscover obscure British poet. Page 45

Crosby and Nash warmly received in concert. Page 45

Dance Festival ends with mixed program. Page 46

Strike at Met ends with a new contract. Page 46

Inge's "Summer Brave" is staged in capital. Page 46

Four TV series have premieres today. Page 71

Documentary to open public TV season. Page 71

Going Out Guide

Family/Style
Rocketeers give housewarming in installments. Page 34

Woman heads her own advertising agency. Page 34

Cooking schools in New Jersey are listed. Page 35

Obituaries

Dr. John Cox, taught history at City College. Page 40

Business and Financial
Dow Jones moves ahead by 4.14 to 840.11. Page 53

Yields steady in Treasury bill auction. Page 53

Utilities still cutting power plant construction. Page 53

South Africa sees inflation and gold rise. Page 53

Merrill Lynch disputes report on job bias. Page 53

Steel production rose 2 percent in week. Page 53

Westinghouse to cut uranium supplying. Page 53

Treasury asked to study car-dumping charge. Page 53

Page

Advertising News 61

Grains 61

Amer. Exchange 60

Market Indicators 54

Bond Sales 59

Market Place 54

Business Briefs 63

Money 60

Business Reports 63

Mutual Funds 62

Commodities 59

N.Y. Stock Exch 54

Out-of-Town 60

Dilettos 60

Over the Counter 62

Sports

People in Sports: Westfall stays an Islander. Page 48

Mets battle Expos in two games at Montreal. Page 49

Yankees find Martin's image as pilot changed. Page 49

1975 U.S. Open had more of everything. Page 49

Preseason making Jets think about postseason. Page 49

Nets trade Paultz to Spurs for Rich Jones. Page 49

Forego gets "only" 129 for Marlboro. Page 49

Royals giving the A's run for money. Page 50

Giants' rushing attack not getting off ground. Page 50

Two yearlings are stolen at Keeneland Sales. Page 51

Notes on People Page 44

Man in the News
Chaim Herzog, candid Israeli at United Nations. Page 4

Editorials and Comment
Editorials and Letters. Page 38

Tom Wicker on U.S. assassination problem. Page 39

Russell Baker outlines the stages of learning. Page 39

Leonard Silk on Kissinger's Marshall Plan. Page 39

Leon Despres explains Chicago's solvency. Page 39

News Analysis
Steven Weisman on city's fiscal crisis. Page 32